HUNT GAZA BORDER RAID ARMS — Colombian soldiers of the UN force search Gaza civilians to make sure they do not have weapons for possible border raids. Beyond is a prickly pear patch.

Israel Offers U. S. Mideast Peace Plan

By UNITED PRESS

Israeli Foreign Minister Golda Meir said today she had handed the United States a new peace plan for the Middle East but admitted she was "not completely optimistic" on how things were going.

Mrs. Meir made the statements to newsmen in Rome, Italy, and in Nice, France. Fog forced her plane to land in Nice today for refuelling on a flight from Paris to Jerusalem via Rome.

She refused in a statement to newsmen at Rome's Ciampino Airport to elaborate on the new Israeli plan but said it contemplates the policing of the Gaza Strip by United Nations forces, a problem now being threshed out in Cairo.

36 Bodies Discovered

A new development in Gaza itself jarred the delicate Mideast situation today. Mouhir Rayess, Egyptian mayor of Gaza town, accused Israel of the mass slaughter of 36 Gaza civilians whose decomposed bodies were found in abandoned Egyptian trenches near the border.

The mayor said 700 Gaza residents were still missing following Israel's occupation of the Gaza Strip and hinted that they too might be victims of the Israeli occupation.

Israel was sure to deny the charges but the incident was expected to have bitter repercussions in future Arab-Israeli relations, still in a "state of belligerency" more than seven years after the end of the Palestine war.

Dag In Egypt Talks

In Cairo UN Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold was reported trying to persuade Egypt not to send troops into the Gaza Strip and Sharm El Sheikh although admitting Egypt was permitted by the 1949 armistice agreement to administer Gaza.

There have been rumors but no indications in Cairo that Egypt planned to send troops into the two areas. It was generally believed in Cairo Egypt would ask the UN Emergency Forces to leave Sharm El Sheikh soon, a move that could revive the Egyptian blockade of the Gulf of Aqaba.

A neutral diplomatic source in Cairo said Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi had laid before Hammarskjold a compromise plan for running the Suez Canal.

Sheriff Asks Court to Drop Photo Ban Suit

PITTSBURGH (UP)— Attorneys for Sheriff Howard Thomas of Westmoreland County have asked Federal Court to dismiss an injunction suit in the photo ban case arising from the John Wesley Wable murder trial.

The suit was brought by the Greensburg Tribune-Review, Pittsburgh Post-Gazette and seven officers and employes of the papers. It seeks to have contempt of court sentences set aside. A hearing in the suit is scheduled for May 20.

The plaintiffs were fined for violating a ban imposed by Judge Edward G. Bauer on the taking of newspictures in the courthouse during Wable's trial as the "phantom slayer" of the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

In petitioning for dismissal of the injunction suit, Thomas' attorneys argued there was no federal question involved. They also filed an answer to an amended complaint filed by the two newspapers.

Jefferson Twp. Candidates Listed

James Nicholas, Democrat, and Joseph Nick, Republican, will have no opposition for the office of supervisor of Jefferson Township in the May 21 primary election.

Filing for township school director were Democrats Huston Balsinger, Stanley Sullivan, Jr., Russell Camp and James Madorma, and Republicans James Harris and Edwin Culver.

In the Democratic race for tax collector are Joseph McConville, Frank W. Thompson, Stephen Leachman and Michael Liptak. Republicans in the battle are Hugh Marshall, James Arnold and Joseph Shoaf.

Brewster Disapproves Of Beck's Borrowing

WASHINGTON (UP) — West Coast Teamsters Boss Frank W. Brewster told the Senate Rackets Committee today he personally disapproves of Teamsters President Dave Beck's action in borrowing $300,000 to $400,000 from the union without interest.

Brewster resumed testimony before the committee shortly after being arraigned in Federal Court on contempt of Congress charges. He was released on $1,000 bond for trial May 20.

Brewster said he has borrowed "pretty close to $90,000" from the union himself. But he said he paid interest and has now repaid the loans.

Committee Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) asked if Brewster thought it wrong for Beck to borrow union funds without interest.

"In my personal opinion, yes," said Brewster.

"Do you disapprove it?"

"In my personal opinion, I could," Brewster replied.

Brewster pleaded not guilty at his arraignment before Federal Judge Charles F. McLaughlin. The contempt charge against him resulted from his refusal last January to answer questions on the Senate investigating subcommittee, also headed by McClellan. He said that committee lacked legal authority to probe into union affairs. He has testified at length, however, before the new special rackets committee created by the Senate to look into union and management misconduct.

Two Others Arraigned

Two of Brewster's union colleagues were arraigned at the same time on the same charge and also pleaded not guilty. They were Nugent Lapoma, secretary-treasurer of Teamsters Local 174 in Seattle, and Einar O. Mohn of Chevy Chase, Md., an international vice president.

The judge issued a bench warrant for a fourth Teamsters official, Harry Reiss of Local 227 in New York, who also was to have been arraigned but did not show up.

McLaughlin set May 27 for Lapoma's trial and June 3 for Mohn's. They, too, were released on $1,000 bond each.

All three were permitted to go downstairs for fingerprinting in the company of their attorneys rather than under custody of bailiffs.

Reiss, for whom the bench warrant was issued, is welfare fund administrator for Local 227 in New York.

The big Teamsters Union was stirring with signs of rank and file revolt against its bosses.

A Teamsters local in La Salle, Ill., sent telegrams to Teamster President Dave Beck and indicted Vice Presidents James R. Hoffa and Einar Mohn calling on them to resign because of disclosures by Senate Rackets Committee investigators.

In San Francisco, some 2,000 members of Teamsters Local 85 held a noisy meeting at which,

Teenager Nabbed As Suspect in Hotel Holdup

ALIQUIPPA, Pa. (UP)—A teenager identified as one of two gunmen who held up a hotel in Ohio early this morning was captured today while walking along a highway near Midland, Pa.

The fugitive, Joseph L. Myers, 19, of East Liverpool, was arrested at 11:05 a.m. by two Midland officers who were driving back to East Liverpool with Fred W. Shimer, also 19, Myers' alleged partner in the robbery.

The easy capture was made while a posse of state and local police searched a thickly wooded and underbrush area in Hopewell Twp. where Myers escaped from pursuing officers at about 3:30 a.m. when Shimer was caught.

Authorities identified Myers and Shimer as the bandits who held up the East Liverpool hotel and fled toward Pennsylvania in a stolen car. Authorities at Monaca, Pa., spotted the automobile after it crossed the state line and chased it here where a tractor-trailer was set up as a roadblock. The bandit's car turned into a deadend street and crashed into an embankment.

Shimer was captured quickly, but Myers ducked into the woods and remained hidden during a night-long search.

Jet Bomber in New Record on Round-trip Flight

LOS ANGELES (UP)— A twin-jet Navy atom bomber streaked across Los Angeles International Airport Thursday night to break both the New York to Los Angeles speed record and the trans-continental round trip record.

The A3D Skywarrior touched down at 9:47.39 p.m. EST to clip nine minutes, 28 seconds off the old mark of five hours, 24 minutes and 26.64 seconds for the New York to Los Angeles flight.

The plane piloted by Cmdr. Dale W. Cox Jr., of Spirit Lake, Idaho, failed to break the Los Angeles to New York record of three hours, 44 minutes and 53 seconds by about 15 minutes, but cut one hour, 42 minutes and 39 seconds from the old round trip mark of 11 hours, 18 minutes and 27 seconds. The A3D's time for the round trip was nine hours, 35 minutes and 48 seconds.

Lt. John M. Conroy of the Air National Guard set both the old records May 21, 1955 in an F86A Sabrejet.

The three crewmen were able to breakfast in Los Angeles, lunch in New York and return here for a fashionable dinner by making the round trip in approximately nine and a half hours.

Boy Admits Setting Warehouse Fire

ERIE, Pa. (UP) — Detectives said today a 16-year-old boy has confessed setting a warehouse fire which caused $50,000 damage.

They said the boy, Paul Eugene Brewer, admitted after his arrest Thursday he broke into the B. F. Fields warehouse March 10 to commit burglary.

He said he found a jar of inflammable fluid, poured it on the floor in a furniture department and ignited it.

Another Candidate In N. Belle Vernon

The Westmoreland County Commissioners' office today stated it had inadvertently omitted the name of Nello Ferrari as a Democratic candidate for Council in North Belle Vernon.

Ferrari is the 10th Democrat seeking the four positions open in the May 21 primary. There are no Republicans in the running.

LEADERS MEET — British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan (left) welcomes President Eisenhower to the crown colony of Bermuda where the two are meeting in top-level conference. Bermuda governor Sir John Woodall (center) was also on hand for the hand-shaking ceremonies.

Ike, Macmillan Talk Over Atomic Program

TUCKER'S TOWN, Bermuda (UP) — The United States and Britain, faced with Russia's boasts of globe-circling atom bombers, sought closer coordination today on future production of atomic weapons and guided missiles.

President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan have reached a "gratifying measure of agreement" in their talks so far. They conferred privately this morning on construction of a Baghdad Pact pipeline while their top aides discussed European affairs.

The two top statesmen planned to join the roundtable conference later in the morning and then call in their military advisers for the grave discussion on joint weapons production this afternoon.

Air of Urgency

The two Allies already have agree on some measure of cooperation in this field. But the question assumed a new air of urgency following a warning by Soviet Defense Minister Marshal Georgi Zhukov Saturday that the Soviet Union can drop atom bombs "any place in the world."

Britain, pinched financially, is seeking to dovetail nuclear and guided missiles projects with the United States to prevent expensive overlapping of work.

President Eisenhower summoned Deputy Defense Secretary Reuben H. Robertson Jr., Atomic Energy Commission Chairman Lewis L. Strauss, Air Force Secretary Donald A. Quarles and Deputy Undersecretary of State for Political Affairs Robert Murphy from Washington for the discussion.

Both Sides Pleased

U.S. and British officials were pleased—even surprised—at how well the talks on the Middle East went.

Spokesmen for both sides mentioned the "gratifying measure of agreement" Mr. Eisenhower and Macmillan had found.

They hastened to point out, however, that there still remained some divergence of views on specifics. One of these might be the degree of faith the two nations place in Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser. The British have none at all.

Woman Breaks Hip In Pedestrian Crash

Mrs. Roy A. Fisher, 78, of 6 Harris street, West Newton, is in Allegheny General Hospital, Pittsburgh, today suffering from a hip fracture received when she collided with a couple in Thursday evening's rush hour pedestrian traffic in downtown Pittsburgh.

She was knocked to the sidewalk and taken by police to the hospital.

Her family reported today that Mrs. Fisher is in "good" condition.

Chicago Mayor Is Hero in City Hall Fire

CHICAGO (UP)— Mayor Richard J. Daley was among the heroes Thursday night in a fire that destroyed the ornate council chambers of Chicago's City Hall, routing some 130 persons and causing $250,000 damage.

Daley, who was working late in his office, led a charwoman trapped by dense smoke to safety. Firemen carried about 30 other persons from the burning 50-year-old structure, and another 100 escaped down stairways.

The five-alarm fire was turned in at 6:20 p.m. by none other than City Fire Commissioner Robert Quinn, who was in his office when he saw the glow of flames reflected from a nearby hotel window.

Firemen battled the blaze for an hour-and-a-half, confining the flames to the second floor council chambers, aldermanic rooms and offices along the northwest corner of the second and third floors.

Two firemen and a telephone company worker were overcome by smoke, but no serious injuries were reported.

Monessen Draft Board No. 171 today announced that John Leonard Kossar, Jr., and John Dan Popovich have volunteered for military service and will be inducted on April 9.

Plane Believed In Ocean Off Coast of Japan

TOKYO, Saturday (UP)—Air Force planes searched vainly through pre-dawn darkness today for a U. S. Military Air Transport Service C97 Boeing Stratocruiser that vanished into storm-lashed, shark-infested waters off Japan with 67 persons aboard.

With the coming of daylight, 70 planes were expected to comb 75,000 square miles of the Pacific in the area where the plane is believed to have crashed early Friday morning. All aboard were feared dead.

Some 48 U.S. Air Force and Navy planes scoured an estimated 54,000-square mile sector of the ocean Thursday, but found no trace of the huge $1,100,000 transport missing on the Wake Island-to-Tokyo leg of a routine flight from Travis Air Force Base, Calif.

Hopes were raised briefly twice today that there might be survivors. A Japanese fishing boat reported it had heard an SOS in the area and one search pilot reported he had sighted a "life-raft."

The raft turned out to be an overturned rowboat with a straw mat floating alongside. Capt. Ralph W. Savory of Mount Clements, Mich., pilot of an amphibian Albatross, said rescue craft searched for two hours in the sector where the SOS was reported.

If a raft equipped with an emergency radio transmitter had been in the area "I think we would have found it," Savory said. "I'm quite sure." Savory was the "on scene commander" of the search.

He said the seas were so rough it would have been "very dangerous" to try to land and "if we could have landed I doubt if we could have got up again" — another indication that the missing plane had broken up in the high seas.

Latest In Series

Disappearance of the plane brought to 109 the number of dead or missing in a series of six U. S. Far Eastern crashes the past month.

The Air Force and Navy joined in a search for possible survivors. It appeared a hopeless task at first, for solid clouds rose from the surface of the sea to a height of 5,000 feet.

The search area itself was vast — 36,000 square miles.

Air Force officials said ditching a plane on the sea even under the best conditions is a hazardous undertaking. Winds of more than 50 knots lashed the sea when the Military Air Transport Service craft disappeared 90 minutes from its destination on a flight from Wake Island to Japan.

The Air Force was mystified as to why the big plane disappeared. The Air Craft Commander, Maj. Ardis L. Crumpton, of Vacaville, Calif., radioed he was flying at 8,000 feet and that the plane was in "A1 condition." Then the plane just disappeared.

An Air Force spokesman said

American Chain, Cable Reports Biggest Year

The American Chain & Cable Co. Inc., of which Monessen's Page plant is a division, recorded its best year in history last year, it was announced today by Cyrus N. Johns, president.

The company had net sales for 1956 of $117,616,377 or $6.80 per share computed on 1,699,279 shares. In 1955 the company had net sales of $101,125,231 or $5.75 per share computed on 1,057,000 shares.

"Sales of products to industry, agriculture, transportation and home during the year resulted in a net income of $7,477,240 as compared with $6,079,199 in 1955," Johns said.

"The result was the best ever recorded in company history. Net sales were close to 16.5 per cent over the previous year, while our net income was approximately 23 per cent higher."

Other significant items in the report include:

Net working capital increased to $31,830,168 from $28,601,358; stockholder's equity per share to $45.28 from $43.55; current assets to $48,749,999 from $44,461,760; number of stockholders to 6,913 from 6,899; total number of employes at the end of the year to approximately 9,247 from 8,450.

Additions and improvements of plant facilities and equipment to assure adequate capacity and to keep pace with the market growth amounted to $3,679,721.

In his announcement, Johns said:

"The increase in sales shows the results of continued and intensive effort to improve our products and distribution, as well as the acquisition of new and improved manufacturing facilities, which should enable us to provide both quality and quantity products, and services required by our expanding markets. Research and development were also contributing factors for the better acceptance of our products."

Charleroi Primary to Be Wide Open Race

Burgess James W. McGuire, of Charleroi, will be opposed in his bid for reelection in the May 21 primary election by Democratic candidates Frank H. Cantoni and Theodore H. Breuer.

Fred Miller is the lone Republican seeking the office.

The big battle in Charleroi will be for Council. No less than 22 candidates are seeking the four openings. Eighteen have filed on the Democratic ticket and four on the Republican.

Also at stake in the primary are the offices of school director (two), tax collector and assessor.

Following is the complete Democratic lineup:

Burgess: James W. McGuire, Frank H. Cantoni and Theodore H. Breuer.

School director: Arthur B. Cramer, William V. Byron, James E. Buchanan and Frank Pucci.

Tax collector: Julius G. Petrilak and Regis Carroll.

Assessor: Marie E. King, Patrick K. Dolan and Joseph Sitte.

The Republican slate shapes up like this: Burgess: Fred Miller; tax collector: W. Ross Allen; council: Walter Behrendt, George Debolt and N. O. Hunter; school director: Arman Balsano and George Humphries.

Big Unions Are Big Businesses; Many Have Bulging Treasuries

By MAUREEN GOTHLIN

WASHINGTON (UP) — How big a business is the labor union business?

Big enought for a number of unions to have millions of dollars invested in government - backed mortgages;

For many to build expensive headquarters buildings;

For some to invest in multi-million dollar housing projects and office buildings;

For a few to invest in stocks and bonds.

Several unions own or control banks or insurance companies. A couple have even lent money to businesses, and one is engaged in an outright business venture with employers.

It's big enough for unions with memberships ranging from 100,000 to one million to pay their presidents salaries ranging generally from $20,000 to $50,000 a year plus expense accounts, and for union leaders to hold business meetings at the most expensive resort hotels. It is well-known that a number of these leaders or workers ride in chauffeured limousines and some maintain several homes.

There is no accurate figure on the net worth that has been built up by the roughly 200 national and international labor unions from dues averaging around $3 a month from 18 million members.

The total financial worth has been estimated at somewhere around $700 million, with an annual income of perhaps half a billion dollars split roughly 50-50 between national and local treasuries.

Several billion dollars, perhaps, could be added to this to represent reserves of pension and welfare funds which some unions, alone or jointly with employers, administer.

The money accumulated in all health and welfare funds and pension trusts is estimated at more than $30 billion with an annual income of several billion. But employers control the administration of funds for about 90 per cent of covered workers.

The finances of unions today are tremendous compared to 20 years ago when many couldn't borrow a dime and a lot of union leaders worked for love instead of money. Yet it is pittance compared to business assets which in manufacturing alone run to more than $200 billion (mostly in plant, equipment and inventories). In business, the $200,000-a-year salary is considered the bench-mark of the top executive bracket.

UMW Richest Union

The nation's largest unions are the 650,000 member United Steelworkers with almost $22 million in national treasury assets; the 1,385,000-member United Auto Workers with almost $35 million; the 1,500,000-member Teamsters Union with more than $39 million, and the 900,000 - member Machinists Union with $17 million.

Probably the richest union is John L. Lewis' 400,000-member United Mine Workers with between $40 and $50 million in assets, plus $130 million in welfare and pension fund reserves jointly administered by union and employer representatives.

The steelworkers, auto workers and machinists, like most unions, own large and imposing headquarters but keep most or all of their money in cash and government bonds for use in paying strike benefits, legal fees and other emergency costs. The steel and auto workers have around 1,000 employes on their national union payrolls.

Leaders of the Teamsters and the Mine Workers, however, feel they have enough money in the bank to put some of their reserves to work making money.

Mediators Give Up in Linde Products Dispute

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Federal Mediation Service today gave up temporarily in its efforts to settle a two-months strike at the Kittanning, Pa., plant of Linde Air Products Company and turned its attention to the company's strike-bound plant at Tonawanda, N.Y.

A panel of mediators announced Thursday night the failure of four days of "strenuous" negotiations to settle the Kittanning walkout.

The AFL-CIO Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers has been on strike for two months at Linde plants in Kittanning and Essington, Pa., Moundsville, W. Va., Youngstown, Ohio, and Tonawanda, N.Y. Linde produces liquid oxygen for the steel industry.

A federal mediator met today with both sides at Buffalo, N.Y., to negotiate the situation at the Tonawanda plant.

A similar meeting will be held at Youngstown next Tuesday to take up the issues involved at the plant there.

A spokesman for the mediation panel said no meetings were scheduled with reference to the other plants.

A total of 1,300 workers are on strike at the five plants, which negotiate contracts separately.

The mediation spokesman said the negotiations on the Kittanning issues were so deadlocked the panel had "no intention" of calling another meeting until such time when either side changed its position sufficiently to warrant a resumption of the talks.

When the efforts at settling the Kittanning strike started here Monday there were more than 25 issues in dispute, the spokesman said.

He said most of these had been disposed of "tentatively" and those still in dispute involved principally wages and the term of a new contract.

The union cut its original demand for a wage increase of 20 cents an hour in the Pittsburgh talks, it was learned. But the mediators declined to say by how much.

The union previously had rejected a company offer of 12 cents an hour.

The mediation panel included William Rose, of Philadelphia, chairman, George Woomer, of Pittsburgh, and Thomas Robertson, of Cleveland.

Bethany Bible Class Meeting

The Bethany Bible Class Ladies Aid of the Marion Presbyterian Church met on Tuesday evening in the church social rooms. Mrs. Russell Cope, president, was in charge and opened the meeting with a devotional period.

The group joined in singing, "Near the Cross" and the scripture, "The Parable of the Good Shepherd" was read by Mrs. Thomas Dent.

"Portraits — My Truest Friend" was read by Mrs. Tillie Houseman and "What Is Charity" by Mrs. Howard Jones. "The Greatest Potential Prayer" was read by Mrs. Cope and prayer was offered for the President of the United States.

Following a routine business session luncheon was served by the hostesses, Mrs. Emma Guest and Mrs. Rose Kissell.

When these discomforts come on with overexertion or stress and strain — you want relief — want it fast! Another disturbance may be mild bladder irritation following wrong food and drink — often setting up a restless uncomfortable feeling.

For quick relief get Doan's Pills. They work fast in 3 separate ways: 1. by speedy pain-relieving action to ease torment of nagging backache, headaches, muscular aches and pains. 2. by their soothing effect on bladder irritation. 3. by their mild diuretic action tending to increase output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes.

Find out how quickly this 3-way medicine goes to work. Enjoy a good night's sleep and the same happy relief millions have for over 60 years. Ask for new, large size and save money. Get Doan's Pills today!

Washington Twp. Lions Club Holds Charter Night Dinner

The sixth birthday of the Washington Township Lions Club was observed at the annual Charter Night dinner held on Wednesday at the Charleroi Elks Club. Invocation was by Ewing Trickett and Ed Breakwell led in the group singing.

Ernest Losasso, District 14 E Governor, and his wife were honored guests and during the evening he gave a short talk on Lionism.

Plans were announced for continuing to sponsor the birthday calendar as a fund raising project. The calendar will cover the period of July 1957 to July 1958 and Anthony Wiseman, will be chairman assisted by Owen Harden and James Jesick. Harden will be in charge of the major ads.

A committee composed of Harry Muckle, James Houseman, Tom Bajor and Eugene Conway was named to secure permission from the Washington Township School Board to use the field for midget league baseball activities this summer. The club will sponsor this project.

Emil Dolfi, who served as toastmaster, introduced the five new members who were inducted, Richard Kennedy, Edward Guglielmi, Anthony Steinberg, Thompson Kirby and Edward Hollar. They were presented with certificates of membership. The wives of the new members received lapel pins. The 13 charter members of the club present were introduced.

Emil VanKulich, secretary, gave a resume of the activities of the club during the past year.

A large birthday cake centered the table and it was topped with six candles, which were lighted by the past presidents of the club, Owen Harden, Anthony Wiseman, James Jesick, James Houseman and Ray Helterbran along with the present president, Harry Stickel.

The birthday cake was presented to Mrs. Charles Miller and prizes were won by Mrs. Alphonse Calabrese and Mrs. Thompson Kirby. Each of the women was presented with a pair of miniature kerosene lamps.

An informal social time followed the program. The committee in charge of the Charter Night party was Mike Mitchell, Emil Dolfi, Ewing Trickett and Guy Winn.

There was a brief Board of Directors meeting and it was voted to purchase a pair of glasses for a needy person in the township.

Rochelle Domenick Honor Guest

Rochelle Domenick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Domenick, of Belle Vernon R. D., observed her sixth birthday anniversary with a party held at her home.

The home was decorated in a color scheme of pink, green and blue and games were played with prizes being awarded to Mary Ann Mendicino, of Monongahela, Rude Svrcek and Tommy Teslovich, of Donora, Gary Ruch, Sharron Assad, Ricky Ammon and Becky Petrus.

The grandparents of the honored guest, Mr. and Mrs. George Teslovich, of Donora and her grandmother, Mrs. Diletta Domenick, of Monongahela, were present. Rochelle opened her many gifts.

Nifty Nine Club At Gibino Home

Mrs. Armina Gibino was hostess to members of the Nifty Nine Club at her home on Wednesday evening. Canasta was in play and those winning high score awards were Mrs. Lucy Kroskie, Mrs. Betty Martino and the hostess.

The special prize was awarded to Rosalie Carroll.

Mrs. Sara Bednarczyk was present as a guest.

Luncheon was served and plans were made to meet in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Sara Kimball, of Main street.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fryske, of Speer street, visited for a few days with the latter's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Askiewniez, of New Kensington.

Vernon Squad Entertained

Mothers of the members of the Vernon Junior High School basketball squad entertained at dinner for the players, cheerleaders and managers along with Coach Ken Clark on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Mickey Gelotti, of Graham street.

The mothers who prepared and served the food were Mrs. Theresa Sanino, Mrs. John Beggs, Mrs. Steve Ruby, Mrs. Guido Caputo, Mrs. R. Spina, Mrs. L. Comadena, Mrs. Eugene Randall assisted by Mrs. Kenneth Clark.

Covers were laid for 26 and a full course roast beef dinner was served. Later dancing and recordings provided the evening's entertainment.

The team ended the regular session in a tie for the Section 3 title, but lost in the playoff game to Rostraver.

Washington Twp. Firemen Meet

Vice President Steve Baker was in charge of the Tuesday evening meeting of the Washington Township Fire Co. in the absence of the president, John Strychalski. Chaplain Percy Henson gave the opening prayer.

Routine reports were given and Fire Chief Charles Summers reported on several recent field fires.

Ernest DeSimone was named to handle all publicity on fire calls.

Refreshments were served and April 2 was set for the next meeting.

Junior Auxiliary To Meet Tonight

The Junior Auxiliary to Belle Vernon American Legion Post 659 will meet for a business session this evening at 7 o'clock in the Legion Home on Broad avenue.

Mrs. Dorothy Cefala, junior director, will be in charge.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dobson, of Broad avenue, took part in a community Lenten service in Star Junction on Wednesday night.

Mrs. Ella Liptrot and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Crawford, of Fairhope, visited for a few days in Detroit with Mr. and Mrs. Dale Sampey and family.

Methodist Church Choir Plans for Easter Cantata

The choir of the First Methodist Church met for a business session in the church social rooms on Tuesday evening after the regular rehearsal.

President Harold Robins was in charge and the session was devoted to planning for the special music, which will be presented as part of the Holy Week and Easter Day services at the church.

The choir will present special selections for Palm Sunday service April 14, on Wednesday evening of Holy Week at the sacrificial meal, Thursday evening at the Holy Communion service and at the annual Community Good Friday service.

The annual Easter cantata will be sung at the morning worship service on Easter Day. It was decided to present "Hail the Easter King" by Knolte and it will be directed by Mrs. Audrey MacDonnell, choir director and organist.

The selections included will be "Ring O Bells'", choir; "Blessed is the King", Men's Chorus and choir; "The Saviour Prays Alone", soprano and alto duet by Mrs. Paul Davison and Mrs. Thomas Gilchrist with the choir; "While Jesus Spake", soprano and bass duet by Mrs. Berneil Lewis and Don Johnson and the choir; "The Radiant Cross", two duets, Elaine Snyder and Mrs. Earl Cramer, Mrs. William Bierwirth and Harold Robins; "There Was A Garden" by a quartet; "Behold the Angel Descends", Women's Chorus and choir; "He Lives Again", solo by Carol Davenport; "The Blessed Assurance", duet by Mrs. Lewis and Mr. Robins; "Hail the Christ", by Mrs. Snyder, Mrs. Cramer and choir; "My Faith Look's Up To Thee", solo by Mrs. Bierwirth; "Go Ye", Men's Chorus and "The Song of Easter", choir.

After the Tuesday evening meeting Carol Davenport served the luncheon.

Cost of Living Index Is Up

135,000 to Get Wage Increases

WASHINGTON (UP)—The cost of living jumped four-tenths of one per cent in February, setting a new record for the sixth straight month, the government reported today.

Higher prices for food, housing costs, gasoline, and a number of other items boosted the Bureau of Labor Statistics' consumer price index to 118.7 per cent of average 1947-49 prices. The index stood 3.6 per cent higher than in February, 1956.

The BLS also reported that the cost of living jump brought a slight decline in the buying power of the average factory worker's pay check. It said the increased prices more than offset a small rise in the average factory worker's take-home pay.

Pay Increases

However, the increase in the price index meant cost of living pay increases of one to two cents an hour for 135,000 workers, mostly in the aircraft industry, whose wage contracts carry escalator clauses tied to the index for February.

The take-home pay average — earnings after federal taxes — for factory workers in February was reported at $74.99 a week.

The purchasing power of the paycheck stood at 122.3 per cent of the average in the 1947-49 period, two-tenths of one per cent below January.

Food prices rose seven-tenths of one per cent between January and February, the largest monthly increase since last July. Higher prices for pork and poultry were mainly responsible.

Clifford Jones Reelected to Head Teachers

Clifford Jones was reelected to a two-year term as president of the Monessen Education Association last night.

Jones is a teacher in the commercial department of Monessen High School. As president he will represent the association as delegate to the national meeting to be held in Philadelphia in July.

Norma Maatta, a teacher in Washington School, was elected vice president.

Continuing in office are the secretary, Mrs. Lillian Kurey, and treasurer, Mary Kordistos who were elected last year to two year terms.

Elected to represent the MEA on the liaison council of the local school district were Mary Butler, Mrs. Eva Passoja, Mrs. Helen Soles and Helen Williams. They succeed Olive Pannabaker, Elizabeth Spence, Marcella Amann whose terms expired, and Andrew Fabian who is in the military service.

Following the brief business session, Isabelle Epley, of Pittsburgh, a past president of the state association, proposed state legislation to integrate social security with the public school employes' retirement system.

The next activity of MEA members will be held April 4, when they will participate in a nation-wide centennial birthday celebration planned to observe the founding of the National Education Association a 100 years ago in Philadelphia.

Green Facing Arraignment on Fraud Charges

SCRANTON, Pa. (UP) —Eight defendants, including Rep. William J. Green (D-Pa.) were to be arraigned before Federal Judge John W. Murphy today on fraud charges in connection with the $33-million U. S. Army Signal Corps Depot at nearby Tobyhanna.

Green, Democratic city chairman of Philadelphia, was indicted on a charge of using his influence as a congressman to locate the depot at Tobyhanna. Green served with the Armed Services Committee.

Also scheduled for arraignment today were: Former Rep. Herbert J. McGlinchey of Philadephia; Joseph Nochez, East Pittsburgh; Lt. Col. Charles S. Tucken, (Ret.), former resident engineer at the depot; Joseph L. Downes, a local labor leader, and his brother, Leonard, of nearby Dunmore; Harry W. Lavery, Kingston, Pa., and Robert W. Brown, Merchantville, N. J.

Gulf Oil Sets Record Income For Year 1956

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Gulf Oil Corp. reported today record net income for 1956 of $282,658,000, equal to $9.54 a common share, against $218,064,000 or $8.19 per share in 1955.

In reporting this and other financial and operating records for 1956, W. K. Whiteford, president, and S. A. Swnsrud, chairman of the $3 billion oil giant, said the year also was one of marked progress in diversification and decentralization.

They said the company last year spent $466 million on capital expenditures or nearly twice the 1955 figure of $274 million, reflecting the increased diversification and growth.

They noted 1957 capital outlays again will be "substantial."

Net sales and operating revenues of the company in 1956 rose to $2,339,715,000, from $1,895,670,000 1955.

The officials said a greater sales volume, some improvement in prices and an upgrading in products manufactured contributed to the increased revenues.

White House Chided By Sen. Joseph Clark

WASHINGTON (UP) —Sen. Joseph S. Clark (D-Pa.) chided the White House Thursday for allegedly turning down the nomination of Philadelphia attorney William White Jr., as Assistant Secretary of the Navy because he had contributed to Clark's campaign.

Clark told the Senate that Navy Secretary Thomas S. Gates Jr., had recommended White and had accorded the senator the courtesy of notifying him of the recommendation.

Clark said he read with chagrin in Wednesday's Philadelphia Evening Bulletin that the White House rejected the recommendation because White had contributed $50 to Clark's senate campaign last year

Clark described White as "an Eisenhower Republican from the word 'go,'" He said he and White and their wives were old personal friends and that the attorney had also contributed to the GOP campaign.

He said White was well qualified for the appointment and was endorsed by Sen. Edward Martin (R-Pa.). He stated he did not attempt to tell the White House that he endorsed the appointment because he thought it would be inappropriate to do so.

"It seems to me, Clark said, "that things have come to a pretty pass when appointments..are turned down by the White House because of a $50 campaign contribution to a personal friend."

Settlement in Britain's Labor Crisis Expected

LONDON (UP)— Labor Minister Iain MacLeod said today he was optimistic of a settlement of Britain's worst labor crisis in 30 years.

MacLeod reported his optimism to Home Secretary R. A. Butler, acting head of the government while Premier Harold Macmillan is conferring with President Eisenhower in Bermuda.

Informed sources said he told Butler there is a chance of an early settlement of the week-old strike of 200,000 shipyard workers who are demanding a 10 per cent wage increase

MacLeod held separate meetings with union leaders and employers Thursday night in an effort to reach a compromise on the shipyard issue. He was to meet with them again today to try to get both sides to sit down together for fresh negotiations.

Settlement of the shipyard strike probably would end the threatened walkout by 2 5-million Engineering Trade Workers, the first of whom are scheduled to leave their jobs Saturday.

The engineers plan to strike in sympathy with the shipyard workers. But they want more money for themselves as well.

Man Held for Tampering with Empty Airplane

PHILADELPHIA (UP) —Robert Marston, 27, Boston, Mass., was scheduled for a hearing today on charges of tampering with an empty passenger airplane here Thursday by removing 18 screws from a floor board housing wires controlling the plane's tail assembly.

Two cleaners at the International Airport, preparing an Allegheny Airlines' DC-3, twin-engined, 24-passenger plane for a takeoff scheduled later in the day for Harrisburg, Pa., Buffalo, N. Y. and Bradford, Pa., discovered Marston sleeping on the floor. They summoned airport guards who turned the suspect over to police.

Authorities said Marston used an Army "dog-tag" as a screwdriver to remove the screws. Following today's hearing on charges of trespassing, malicious mischief and vagrancy, he will be turned over to a U. S. Marshal to face a charge of violating the U. S. aeronautics act.

The plane's departure was delayed two hours until it was examined.

State at New Record Lows in Infant Deaths

HARRISBURG (UP) — State Health Secretary Berwyn F. Mattison said today Pennsylvania hit new record lows in infant, tuberculosis and accident death rates in 1956.

The infant death rate dropped from 24.6 to 24.5 per 1,000 live births, continuing the trend which has been downward since 1952.

The tuberculosis death rate was down to 9 9 per 100,000 of population compared to 11.1 for the previous year. As late as 1952 the tuberculosis fatality rate was 17.2 per 100,000 persons.

The accident death figure fell from 50 8 to 49.4 last year.

Tentative figures show 249,000 births during 1956 compared to 114,400 deaths in the Commonwealth. The death rate of 10.3 per 1,000 population was slightly higher than the 1955 rate of 10.2.

Leading causes of death included: heart diseases, 47,700; cancer, 18,600; blood vessel lesions 12,000; accident, 5,500; pneumonia and influenza, 3,000; hardening of the arteries, 2,700; diabetes 2,400; Kidney diseases, 1,300; congenital malformations. 1,300; tuberculosis, 1,100; maternal, 90, all others, 18,710.

Lawrence in Hamburg with Other Mayors

HAMBURG, Germany (UP) — Five American city officials led by Mayor David L. Lawrence of Pittsburgh were received by Hamburg's Deputy Mayor Edgar Engelhard today.

The Americans, who arrived here for a three-day stay Thursday, were shown around in the centuries-old castle-like city hall building.

The party then toured Hamburg in bright sunshine.

Tonight they attend a reception given by the Hamburg city and state Senate. The group, including Mayor Gordon S. Clinton of Seattle; Deputy Commissioner James G. O'Brien of New York City; Common Council Member Mrs. Blanche P Wise of Detroit; and Councilman Victor A. Schiro of New Orleans, leave by train for Cologne Sunday morning.

Drive on in State For New Industries

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — The Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia, in its March issue of Business Review, said a statewide drive is being conducted to bring new industries to Pennsylvania.

The review, released Thursday, said as part of the over-all effort to make Pennsylvania a healthy climate for flourishing businesses, the state is currently engaged in examining its corporate structure It added that the governor's Tax Policy Advisory Committee has recommended exemption of manufacturers from the capital stock tax and Gov. George M. Leader, in his recent budget message, also advocated the exemption.

In Philadelphia, the review said government and civic organizations are faced with the problem of strengthening the city's economic structure. Such government agencies as the Mayor's Department of Commerce and the Redevelopment Authority, along with civic organizations, including the Greater Philadelphia movement and the Chamber of Commerce are engaged in the project.

Redevelopment and industrial development in Pittsburgh are sponsored and promoted by such agencies as the Allegheny Conference on Community Development and the Regional Industrial Development Corp., the article said.

The review said that in Harrisburg, statewide industrial development is one of the responsibilities of the Department of Commerce. The department renders financial assistance for establishing new industries in certain communities and also conducts research and provides plant location services.

In Scranton, Altoona and other communities throughout the hard and soft coal valleys, the article stated, many manufacturing enterprises have been established by local industrial development corporations.

TOP GENERAL — Highest ranking officer in the new West German army is Lt. Gen. Adolf Heusinger, who stood beside Adolf Hitler when the bomb intended for assassination of Hitler went off. Heusinger, 59, will be inspector general and joint chiefs of staff chairman, and will have four-star rank. He was in on the Hitler plot, and was to have been "sacrificed" in the bomb explosion.

Plane

the plane from the 1501st Air Transport Wing at Travis Air Force Base, Calif., carried two women, one a member of the crew, the other a Navy dependent. In addition, there were nine other crewmen, 27 airmen, 17 Army men, 10 sailors and two male civilian employes.

The $1.1 million plane was making a routine ferrying flight to Japan. It last report came when it was barely 250 miles southeast of Tokyo. The Air Force knew only it must be down somewhere along the route.

Planes were ordered into the air before dawn to search for flares from possible raft-borne survivors. Other planes joined the search from Hawaii, Guam and Alaska and American and Japanese naval craft crisscrossed the 6,000 square mile area.

Business on Increase in State

UNIVERSITY PARK (UP)—The Pennsylvania State University's Bureau of Business Research reported today that general business in Pennsylvania during January was six per cent higher than the previous month and nine per cent greater than January, 1956.

The report said the index of general business for Pennsylvania for January reached 180 as compared to 170 in December and 165 a year ago. The index is based on bank debits, factory payrolls and industrial power sales and uses the years 1947-49 as 100.

Gains from December to January included building permits, bank debits, motor vehicle sales, bituminous coal production, carloadings, postal receipts, building contracts and factory employment.

Industrial power sales and factories hours remained unchanged from December to January. But losses were reflected in department store sales, life insurance sales, factory payrolls, steel production and anthracite coal production.

The cost of living showed a slight increase from December to January, reaching an all-time high for January.

New January highs were recorded in telephones, bank debits, steel production, industrial power sales, postal receipts, life insurance sales and factory payrolls.

Department stores sales and sales of passenger cars reached the highest January figures since 1951.

Although factory hours showed no change, factory employment was the highest since 1954. Steel plants operated at near capacity and other gains in January over a year ago were reported for hotel receipts and room occupancy, average hourly and weekly earnings in manufacturing.

Anthracite coal production in January was the poorest for the month in years. The same condition existed in building contracts.

Other declines from a year ago were noted for crude petroleum production, commercial vehicle sales, bituminous coal production, car-loadings and street railway passenger traffic.

The areas and percentage of gains in industrial areas included Allentown 2, Bethlehem 18, Easton 3, Erie 6, Harrisburg 4, Lancaster 1, Philadelphia 6, Pittsburgh 16, and York 4.

Losses reported included Reading 4, Scranton 2 and Wilkes-Barre 2.

Egypt still demands it receive all Suez Canal tolls but under the reported compromise would agree to pay some of the money into a joint bank account with the United States for development of the canal.

Eyes On Syria

Western diplomats still were keeping an anxious eye on Syria where reports have leaked out of a conflict between right-wing and left - wing army officers over whether that nation shall fall into the Soviet orbit.

Informed sources in Beirut said only the personal intervention of Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser and King Saud of Saudi Arabia had prevented a bloody clash between the two elements. But the situation was far from settled

President Camille Chamoun of Lebanon flew to Saudi Arabia today for a conference with King Saud on the Eisenhower Doctrine and it was considered likely they would discuss the Syrian situation

Hurrianko Named VFW Commander

Walter Kwolek Wins Write-in Vote for Senior Vice Commander

John Hurrianko was elected commander of the Allison-Lescanac Post 1190, Veterans of Foreign Wars last night in a spirited election marked by a write-in campaign.

Mickey Janicki, who had been nominated for senior vice commander, lost both in a write-in bid to defeat Hurrianko as commander and in the senior vice commander balloting.

John Hurrianko

Walter Kwolek, a past commander, took the write-in vote for senior vice commander.

Other officers elected included: Socrates Loulis, junior vice commander; Richard Pustelak, quartermaster; Vincent LaRiccia, outgoing commander, judge advocate; Paul Komar, chaplain; Dr. Vincent Bolton, surgeon and Michael Smertka, Jr., trustee, three year term.

Delegates Named

Delegates to the Westmoreland County Council and District 27 included:

Philip Columbus, Komar, Joseph Rogowitz, Edwin Melenyzer, Sam Scirotto and R. Mitchell Steen, Jr.,

Alternate delegates elected included:

Delbert Clingerman, Pustelak, William Dalzell, Loulis, Pete Sambochini and James Kaniski.

Reports were made by Loulis on a meeting of the County Council and Commander LaRiccia on a District 27 meeting, at which he was named District chairman of the annual Poppy drive.

A letter of thanks was read from the Leukemia Blood Donors League for a contribution.

Larry T. Doyle was accepted as a new member.

Installation of officers will be held at the next meeting, Thursday, April 4.

ON SECOND THOUGHT, RUSSIA CHANGES POLICY — Highly secret reports reaching Washington indicate the Soviet has adopted a new Middle East policy, as indicated on the map The change apparently results from taking "second thought" on the Arabs' ability to work efficiently with modern weapons and warplanes The Soviets now consider the Arabs too untrained, these reports indicate. Israel's capture of a great deal of Egypt's Soviet-supplied war material in overrunning the Sinai peninsula may have swayed the Kremlin's opinion.

Lions Club to Hold Minstrel Show in May

It won't be long before the Monessen Lions Club will be cavorting about the High School auditorium stage in the annual Lions minstrel show. It will be a two-day performance, May 1 and 2.

The Lions already are hard at work lining up the program, according to co-chairmen Joseph Lancas and William Dragan. Following are the committees working on the show:

Producers, James Altemara, Dan Salotti and Henry Dragan; music, Julius D'Alfonso and Margaret Falbo; tickets, Steve Thomas and William Pushkar; program book, Glenn Chew and John Kotch, Jr.; advertising, Ross Aiello, Joseph Lancas, William Dragan, Nicholas Puleo, Michael Ferencz and Altemara; costumes, Mickey Hulick, William Davies, Aiello and Altemara; stage, Anthony Todaro, John Mallino, John Duronio, Joseph Venneri and Albert Godla.

Bell to Build Dial Building In West Newton

A new Bell Telephone dial central office building will be erected in West Newton soon, J. Lawrence Buchanan, district manager, announced today.

He said the company has acquired two plots of ground in the community.

One plot, located on Vine street, is 40 x 132 feet and was purchased from Mr. and Mrs. Frank Vogel. The other plot, at the corner of Fifth and Vine streets consisting of 52 feet fronting Vine and 123 feet along Fifth street, was purchased from Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Croushore.

The new building will house dial equipment in preparation for the introducttion of dial service in West Newton.

Buchanan said preliminary plans are well advanced and indicated that construction would get under way soon.

Slugging Primary For Brownsville

A real slugging primary is in prospect in Brownsville with former burgess and chief county detective William J. Long returning to the ballot wars in major fashion.

Long, who filed for burgess on the Democratic ticket, has been serving as superintendent of Fayette County buildings.

Incumbent Burgess Paul Thomas Jr., finds himself opposed by Long, William C. Westcoat and John Rave.

The Republican candidate, Marion C. Klingensmith, former boxer, is unopposed.

Seeks Damages for Truck Hitting Boy

A suit asking damages in excess of $2,500 has been filed in the Washington County courts by William and Eleanor F. Smichnick, of Belle Vernon.

The Smichnicks are claiming damages for an accident June 4, 1955, in which their son, William, Jr., 8, was struck by a truck operated by Andrew Resetar, of Speers and owned by Albert Catani, of Belle Vernon.

Tri-Hi-Y Girls Present Program At Lions Club

Janie Williams and Ceil Zoretich, who represented the Monessen High School Tri-Hi-Y at the model UN conference held recently at Harrisburg and the Tri-H-Y sponsor, Helen Williams, presented the program at last night's meeting of the Lions Club.

It was a dinner session at the Slovak Home with President William Essey in charge.

The girls presented a draft of the resolutions proposed by the conference and sent to the UN. They also described the traditional attire worn at the conference by girls representing other countries and the international banquet that highlighted the affair.

The invocation was by Dave Victoria and Joseph Lancas was song leader. Francis Miller was a guest

A report was given on the Lions Minstrel planned for May 1 and 2 in the High School auditorium. Already 1000 tickets have been sold.

Plans were discussed for a banquet and reception to be held for District 14 E at the Slovak Home with the Monessen Lions as host club. John L. Stickley, president of Lions International, will be honored guest.

Bernard Massa was in charge of the program and birthdays celebrated during the evening were those of Mike Hardon, Z. E. Forester, J. Saladiak, Ross Aiello, Rudy Stofan, Mike Komar, Tony Todaro and Nick Puleo.

Bridge Tourney Winners Listed

Nine tables of bridge were in play when the Magic City Bridge Club met last night in the Charleroi Elks Club.

North-south high score winners were Mrs. Inez Gossard, of Charleroi and Mrs. Frederic Feldman, of Belle Vernon, first; Mrs. Alice Fiscus, of Charleroi and E. J. Feeney, of Brookline, second.

East-West winners were Mrs. E. J. Feeney, of Brookline and Dave Rosenberg, of Charleroi, first; Madison Rodgers of California and Warren Wall, of Monongahela, second.

Another party is being planned for next Thursday.

Release of Policeman Is Studied by Judge

PITTSBURGH (UP)— A judge has taken under advisement a petition for release of Acting Police Lt. Michael Stipanovich, arrested as an outgrowth of a criminal attack charge brought by a mother of two children.

Mrs. Eileen Tomacek, 30, accused Stipanovich at a Morals Court hearing Thursday before Magistrate William Redmond of trying to persuade her to drop the assault charge.

At the hearing she repeated her charge that Patrolman Louis Chiarelli attacked her in the back seat of a police car early last Sunday while Patrolman George W. Smith sat in the front seat.

Both Chiarelli and Smith have been held for court.

Following the Morals Court hearing, at which Stipanovich was charged with subornation of perjury, a habeas corpus hearing was held for Stipanovich before Judge Clarence B. Nixon.

Assistant Dist. Atty. William Smith said Mrs. Tomacek's testimony, if believed, was sufficient to establish a case against Stipanovich.

"However," Smith added, "there are many inconsistencies."

Judge Nixon did not indicate when he would rule in the case. He released Stipanovich in the custody of his attorney pending a decision.

Wants State Review Of Mental Health Cost

HARRISBURG (UP)—The chairman of the House Appropriations Committee said today the administration of Gov. George M. Leader should make a "realistic review" of its policies in collecting the cost of state mental health care from patients or their relatives.

Rep. Norman Wood (R-Lancaster) said there was more than a 30 per cent increase in the cost of collecting the fees, but only 12 per cent of the cost of operating state mental health hospitals would be obtained this biennium from patients or their families who are able to pay.

"This is a drop in the percentage collected by prior administrations when the collections are compared with the increased cost of operations," Wood said.

Wood said the law provides that only those persons who are indigent were entitled to free care. All others are liable for the costs of operations, on a per diem basis averaging about $4.

"It is hard to believe that better than 85 per cent of the patients in our mental hospitals come from indigent families and are entitled to free care," he said. "It is the responsibility of the state to provide mental health care for such persons but all others are required to pay the small amounts the Commonwealth is authorized to collect," he said.

Wood said if only 25 per cent of the cost of operations were recovered from the families of patients financially able to pay it would provide at least $15,000,000 for mental health services.

Primary Battle in W. Newton

West Newton Democrats are preparing for a torrid May 21 primary election battle for the offices of burgess, tax collector and councilmen from the Second and Third Wards.

Republicans, on the other hand, will have no contest for burgess, tax collector, councilmen from the First and Third Wards and auditor.

Democratic burgess candidates are James L. Welsh, Paul Suchko and Leo William Volk.

Robert C. Umbarger is the lone Republican candidate for burgess.

First Ward Race

In the councilmanic race in the First Ward neither party will have competition. Democratic candidates are Edgar Rouse, seeking reelection, and Richard W. Mains. Republican aspirants are Victor N. Weisgerber and J. Warren Cumpson, incumbent.

The filing deadline passed without a single Republican becoming a candidate for the one council post in the Second Ward.

John Lowanse, incumbent, will be opposed by Walter O. Backstrom for the Democratic nomination for councilman from the Second Ward.

Third Ward Democrats seeking nomination for two positions on council are George E. Ayers, William Snyder, Victor Leap and Matthew Everly. Jane Abbott is the only Republican seeking nomination for council in the Third Ward.

School Board Entries

Three Republicans are seeking the two school board positions. Incumbents Cecil L. Walter and Earl Albig, Jr. are seeking re-election. Opposition for one of the school board posts will come from J. Frank Lash.

Only one Democrat — Joseph Schiftic — filed for school director.

Four Democrats will battle for the nomination for tax collector. Filing were Mrs. Anna Mary Long, Mrs. Jane Sykes Farrell, Thomas O. Filbern and William S. Ferguson.

Mrs. Sara Ross will be the only Republican candidate for the tax collector job.

Candidates for auditor are Curtis B. Fowler, R., and Anna Mae Kelly, D.

Perry Plans Fund Drive

New attempts to reach a goal of $15,000 will be promoted within the next few days by Perryopolis Industrial Enterprises, Inc.

Chairman J. Boyd Knox last night said numerous reasons had accounted for repeated delays in efforts to reach the goal.

The sum is necessary to assure Perryopolis industrial expansion, Knox said. The group holds an option on a tract of land near the borough which is slated for development as an industrial site.

Knox said representatives of several industries have visited the site and discussed settlement with his group.

To date, somewhat more than $6,000 has been secured, Knox said.

Nasser's Star Waning

WASHINGTON (UP — Vice President Richard M. Nixon has brought back strong evidence from Africa that Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser's star is waning among Arab leaders, informed sources said today.

However, they said Nasser's influence still remains great with the Arab masses.

Nixon, who returned Thursday from a triumphant 19,000-mile swing across Africa, called on all "interested nations" to provide greater economic and political contributions to bring about a long-range peace settlement in the troubled Middle East.

Nixon found wide approval during his 22-day tour of President Eisenhower's Middle East Doctrine and its aim of strengthening Mideast nations economically and politically so they will not fall under the domination of either Russia or Egypt.

The vice president, who viewed his trip to eight African nations as laying the groundwork for closer U.S. relations with Africa, gained a first-hand impression of the problems facing the area.

He was said to be dissatisfied with certain U.S. policies and personnel there and will make recommendations which may lead to a diplomatic shakeup.

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Frank Bednarczyk, who died 20 years ago today, March 22, 1937.
Gone, dear father, gone forever,
How we miss your smiling face,
But you left us to remember,
None on earth can take your place.
A happy home we once enjoyed,
How sweet the memory still;
But death has left a loneliness,
The world can never fill.
Sadly missed by Wife, Children, Grandchildren, and Great Grandchildren

PRR Income For February Reported Down

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — The Pennsylvania Railroad announced today that net income for February was $669,018 below the same month last year largely because of the Eastern longshoremen's strike and the shorter month.

The railroad said the longshoremen's strike was reflected in the reduction of carloadings of 10 per cent for the month. It also pointed out that February had only 28 days in 1957, compared to 29 in 1956, a leap year.

Net income for February, 1957 amounted to $853.956, compared to $1,522,974 for the same month last year. Gross Revenues for last month totaled $78,162,299 and Net Railway operating income $3,103,956, compared to gross revenues of $76,619,626 and Net Railway operating income of $3,897,974 for 1956.

Net income for the first two months of 1957 totaled $1,361,221, compared to a net income of $2,105,280 for the corresponding period last year.

Turtle Creek Project to Go To Cooperative

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Turtle Creek's Electric Heights, largest federally owned housing project in Allegheny County, will be sold to a tenants' cooperative next week, it was disclosed today.

C. Howard McPeak, executive director of the Allegheny County Housing Authority which has acted as agent for the U. S. Government, said the final papers will be signed in New York next Friday

The tenants' cooperative has put the required eight per cent down payment on a purchase price of $2.152,000.

The 600 units in Electric Heights, built in 1953 to house war workers, cost the government $2,353,000. In selling, the government took into consideration rentals collected in the past 14 years.

The sale will leave the 400-unit Mooncrest development in Moon Township the only federally owned housing project remaining in the county. Present plans call for Mooncrest to be sold to private interests before June 30.

Allergists Told To Carry Cards Listing Ailments

CHICAGO (UP)—Dr. Mayer A. Green of the University of Pittsburgh Medical School has urged that persons who are sensitive to some modern drugs be required to carry cards listing their allergies.

Green, speaking at the American College of Allergists, Inc., meeting Wednesday, said that an increasing number of persons have become sensitive or allergic to modern drugs. He said cards such as those now carried by diabetics could save the lives of many drug-sensitive persons.

Green said more than 35,000 substances are now used in drugs. Only a few hundred of these are responsible for allergic reactions, he said, but "any person may become sensitized to a particular drug."

Green said that penicillin and aspirin caused most reactions noted by allergists. Cards describing the allergies and listing the drugs would prevent doctors from administering the drugs at the scene of an accident, during a serious illness or other emergency, Green said.

BELGRADE (UP) — President Tito and his wife began a short stay at the Marshal's favorite Adriatic retreat island of Brioni today, Belgrade Radio reported.

Small Businessmen Are Solving Own Problems; Forming Organizations

NEW YORK (UP)—Everybody is concerned about the health of small business.

Mounting competition and shrinking profit margins have brought the economic medicine men running with all kinds of pills and cures for small business' headaches

More often than not, the suggested cures are worse than the disease

But while the experts ponder the type of prescription needed to help this segment of the business world, small businessmen themselves are quietly going about solving their own problems.

They are taking positive steps to improve their managerial ability, their competitive position and their technical know-how.

The American Management Association said the number of small businessmen going back to school is on the increase.

The AMA said more than 500 executives from small and medium-sized companies are expected to attend a series of conferences for small business slated for this spring in New York and Chicago.

"Smaller companies," AMA said, "have unique management problems calling for a particular approach to company organization, operation and policies — an approach that differs in content though not in method from that used by larger firms."

The planned seminars will deal with general management problems and also with the specialized fields of finance, marketing, office management, research and production.

The New York State Commerce Department has set up a program of technical assistance for small businessmen, which is proving popular in the state.

William D. Carlebach, first deputy commissioner of the department, said the state has put an array of topflight executive talent at the service of small businessmen which will enable them to "sharpen their management techniques to compete more effectively in today's complex economy."

The National Association of Tobacco Distributors has set up an operations analysis division to help its members with management and operational problems free of cost, other than travel expenses

Elsewhere, businessmen are forming organizations similar to farmers' co-operatives in an effort to reap some of the benefits of "big business."

Planet Travel Common in 50 Years, He Says

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, Eastern Airlines board chairman, said Wednesday that speedy, large scale travel between planets will be common in 50 years.

Rickenbacker, World War One ace, also said continued jet improvement would result in commercial transport planes crossing the American continent in one hour or spanning the Atlantic Ocean in two hours.

He told the Rotary Club of Philadelphia that atomic powered space ships carrying 2,000 passengers and capable of speeds in excess of 5,000 miles an hour would be common for inter planetary travel by 2,007.

Rickenbacker said the space ship would have "practically unlimited range and would be "semi-self sustaining planets in themselves."

The air lines' executive said that within three years, jets on major air lines would fly above the weather in smooth, silent comfort at speeds of 600 miles an hour.

Jet development would boost this speed to 2,500 miles an hour and the 60 minutes crossing of the continent, Rickenbacker predicted.

Saw Lincoln Alive

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—Probably the last person in Springfield who saw Abraham Lincoln alive has died. She was Mrs. R. F. Herndon, widow of R. F. Herndon, founder of a Springfield department store Mrs. Herndon, who died Thursday, was 102.

Your Health—

Annual Check-up Vital For Women Past 40

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Measles and eye-troubles often go hand in hand. But while the disease does present some ocular danger, the extent of the trouble usually is exaggerated.

One of the first symptoms of measles is detected in the eyes. From three to four days before the familiar skin rash breaks out, the lids will begin to swell, the conjunctiva will become red and there may be a slight discharge.

Once the blotches begin to peel, the conjunctivitis generally disappears. However, there may be tiny ulcerations of the cornea.

Certain complications may result from secondary infections In this way, measles might precipitate a case of squinting.

But from the disease alone, there is seldom permanent visual damage.

Just the same, you'll want to take proper precautions to prevent any eye trouble when your youngster, or some other member of the family, is stricken with measles

Frequently, the eyes will be sensitive to light. Keeping the room dark by lowering the shades or blinds might interfere with proper ventilation. This in turn could lower the patient's general resistance and make recovery more difficult.

Dark glasses for the patient probably is a better idea. Unless your physician especially advises it, don't bandage the eyes

As a rule, your doctor will tell you that compresses of plain warm water will be soothing and helpful in most cases.

The use of antibiotic ointments or drops is often recommended, but don't use them without your doctor's approval.

Finally, the patient should get plenty of rest. After-all, when he's sleeping, his eyes are resting, too.

Question and Answer

C. B.: What would cause a four-year-old child to drink water in large quantities all day long?

Answer: This condition may be due to diabetes of the ordinary type or to a condition known as diabetes insipidus. It also may be due to habit.

In any event, there is need for immediate study so that proper treatment may be instituted if found necessary.

Joan Collins Is One Star Who Likes Popularity

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—New star Joan Collins is one of the most dated girls in town, but this busy state of affairs worries the English beauty because "people get the impression I'm always having a ball."

From the gossip columns it sounds like the colorful Joan does. Joan, Natalie Wood and Rita Moreno are the "campus queens" in this College of Hollywood, or, rather, the Lana Turner, Ava Gardner and Rita Hayworth of the younger generation.

When I'm not working I date every night," said Joan. "To sit home is the kiss of death! I plan to tablehop through life. Well, for five years, anyway, and then I'll sit down at one table."

Joan was sitting in her 20th Century Fox dressing room wearing tight toreador pants and a huge sweater and sitting in her favorite pose—perched on one leg with the other knee pulled up to her chin.

"I really work like crazy," the actress said. "I have three unreleased pictures ('Island In The Sun', 'The Wayward Bus' and 'Seawife')."

Van Doren Has Novel In Publisher's Hands

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP)—The channel swim...

Charlie Van Doren, who tapped the till for $129,000 on NBC-TV's "Twenty One," has placed his novel with Atlantic-Little, Brown. It's called "The Murdoch Way" and is set int he Middle Ages.

Ed Murrow landed Liz Taylor and Mike Todd for his April 5 "Person To Person." The couple will be beamed from Todd's penthouse apartment in Manhattan.

Talk around CBS has it that "Two For The Money," the Sam Levenson show that'll kick off Saturday night in a late hour spot, will be shifted in June into the first half of the Jackie Gleason hour when Gleason goes on vacation.

"Hey Jeannie" heads for the CBS-TV boneyard at the end of its current run. . .Another shaky show at CBS-TV is "The Buccaneer." Ditto for "Hold That Note" at NBC-TV.

ABC-TV, already set with Frank Sinatra, Pat Boone and Guy Mitchell as musical entries, now has eyes for Teresa Brewer. . . The Bill Cullens, with family ideas in mind, are shopping for a Long Island home.

Bill Hartigan of NBC-TV is back from the Antarctic with 60,000 feet of color film and an 18-inch scar on his back. Hartigan picked up the bad souvenir when he plunged into a 40-foot glacial crevasse.

Leo Durocher has joined Nan Fabray in the cast of "A Man's Game," a baseball musical set for the Kaiser Hour on April 23 . . Frankie Laine is beginning to shape up as summer replacement for Arthur Godfrey again.

Frank Musiello, producer in the Arthur Godfrey menage, denies he intends to marry Jan Davis, singer with Godfrey's family. "I've been working on the show for nine veals," says Musiello, "and, believe me, there is no intention of marriage with her."

The Great Barrier Reef of Australia, 1,250 miles long, is the world's largest coral structure. Like an iceberg, most of the reef's 80,000-square-mile area lies underwater. A loose chain of shoals, reefs, and lonely islands betrays the stupendous mountain of submerged coral.

Pittsburgh Steel Meets the Test

THE ANNUAL report of the Pittsburgh Steel Co. to its stockholders indicates, it seems to us, that our local company was able to hold its own with the best in the industry during an unusually difficult year in 1956.

The strike of the United Steelworkers union was, of course, the event that overshadowed steel operations throughout the nation last year. The industry's wage earners have long since felt the impact on their incomes of that disastrous — and (we still believe) unnecessary — conflict. Their communities, too, have suffered serious economic losses. And in neither case were the gains won by the strike sufficient to offset the losses.

Now the steel companies are making their annual reports to stockholders. And in every such report we have seen, it is clear that the strike prevented 1956 from surpassing even that happiest of all years for steel — 1955.

It is a commplace to say about strikes that nobody wins them and everybody loses them. But the 1956 strike can stand for a long time as a classic illustration. And about all that kept it from being a total loss all around was the sensible agreement to have no more strikes for at least three years.

* * *

THE FACT that Pittsburgh Steel, although it is one of the smaller independent companies, was able to absorb the effects of the strike as well as it did was no doubt due in large part to the persistent demand for steel. But it was certainly due in some part to skilled management as well.

The strike caught Pittsburgh Steel in the midst of an expansion program which involved ticklish changeovers from old facilities to new. At best these required astute manipulation to hold production losses to a minimum. But the interruption due to the strike made the transition more complicated and more costly.

Even so, the company established a new record for net sales, surpassing even 1955, and showed a profit of $6,225,000 against $7,515,470 in 1955.

Stockholders, employes and friends of Pittsburgh Steel are entitled, we believe, to regard this performance as a testimonial to the competence of those who are directing the affairs of the company. It bespeaks, in terms which are hardly subject to contradiction, the soundness of their planning, the skill of their day-to-day management and the effectiveness of their sales efforts.

We could hardly ask of our No. 1 employer and taxpayer a better augury of the future.

Sales Tax Necessary

THE ADOPTION by the state legislature, now controlled in both houses by the Republicans, of a permanent form of the sales tax has been a foregone conclusion ever since a report by a study commission appointed by Governor Leader recommended such a course of action.

The changes which are being made in the sales tax law are not particularly surprising in spite of the noise which some Democratic legislators are making about them. The noise is purely for possible political effect. The Democrats know just as well as the Republicans that continuation of the sales tax — and at three per cent — is a necessity. And the public would think more of them if they had resisted the temptation to indulge in meaningless shadow-boxing.

The major changes being made in the law are:

1. The rate is continued at three per cent instead of being reduced to two per cent as contemplated in the original act.

2. The stamp plan of collection is eliminated. This was never put into effect anyway.

3. Pennsylvania manufacturers, utilities and shipyards are exempted from paying the tax on purchases of materials used in their operations. While the Democrats are calling this "special privilege", it makes sense in the light of the whole state tax structure.

Approval of the sales tax revisions by the Assembly will no doubt be accomplished next week. And if Governor Leader doesn't approve them, he should have his head examined.

Regulation Needed

WHATEVER else comes out of the current Senate investigation of labor unions, it is clear to us that there should be more careful regulation of the use of union funds in political campaigns.

The political activities of the Teamsters Union on the Pacfiic coast, especially in Oregon, perhaps constitute an extreme illustration of the need for such regulation. But it is nevertheless true that leaders of other unions have had far too free a hand with other peoples' money in promoting their own favorite candidates and ideologies.

At the very least, it seems to us, the restrictions against the use of union funds in politics should be as tight as those against the use of corporate funds. And even that may not be tight enough.

Merry-Go-Round—

Backdrop for Conference At Bermuda

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower can look back on a long period of ups and downs in British relations as he confers with Prime Minister Macmillan in Bermuda. He can look back to the summer of 1944 when he lived in a pleasant headquarters camp outside London and spent long hours planning the invasion of Normandy. He can look back, too, to the crowds in the streets of London giving him a hero's welcome as he came back from the wars — Londoners standing for hours to get a glimpse of the man who ran the Nazis out of Europe — standing on the Guildhall balcony beside crusty, unsmiling Winston Churchill, promising that the United States and England would build for peace together, forever. . . . . And he can look back to pleasant trips to Scotland for grouse shooting after the war when he was stationed in Germany. The Scots even gave him part of a castle where he could relax any time he wanted — a gift for life from the grateful people of Scotland. . . And he can look back at the day when he marched with other cap-and-gowned dignitaries to receive an honorary degree from ancient Oxford University; and to a myriad other pleasant associations with a country grateful to a soldier.

Mr. Pearson

Ike and Churchill — Came the day when Eisenhower was about to become President of the United States. He began to receive little chits from his old friend Winston Churchill — also transatlantic phone calls. Churchill had kept up a steady stream of correspondence across the Atlantic with Franklin Roosevelt. Winning the war became a sort of partnership, a joint enterprise between them. Never had the Anglo-American alliance been firmer. . . . Relations simmered a bit under Truman and Atlee. Prime Minister Atlee, a Laborite, didn't camp out in the White House with the Trumans the way Churchill had clumped up and down White House upstairs corridors in his bedroom slippers, his crimson and gold kimono half-draped around his nude and cherubic torso. . . So with Ike about to enter the White House, Churchill expected the cozy relations of war days to resume. He was so eager that he insisted on coming to see Ike two weeks before he was sworn in as President. The new President-elect was cordial, but the relationship was different from those halcyon hero days right after the war. Churchhill was no longer giving suggestions to a military man. He was talking to a President of the United States. This time Ike was on his own. . . . Also the Grand Old Man of England was pushing 80 and getting quite deaf. It was a strain to talk to him.

The First Bermuda Conference — Churchill had a great ambition — to hold a Big 3 conference with Soviet Russia — to patch up the peace of the world. The new President didn't like the idea, but Churchill kept hammering it home, until finally he induced Ike to meet him again in Bermuda in December 1953 for further discussions. . . Ike will be looking back on that too as he meets this week with another Prime Minister of England. But one thing he may not have known was that when he, Eisenhower, departed Bermuda he left his old friend in tears. . . . Churchill had planned a dramatic session which he would dominate. The President cut short that session abruptly, flew to New York to address the United Nations on atoms-for-peace. It took the headlines completely away from his old wartime friend, the fading, aging Prime Minister of England.

Broken Eden — There are other things Ike will be looking back on as he meets once again in Bermuda to consider the badly ruptured Anglo-American alliance. He can look back on the night of Nov. 5 last year, one night before the election, when he telephoned another Prime Minister of England and told Sir Anthony Eden to get his troops out of Suez. . . . It was reported in London that he had used barracks-room language — a report denied by the White House. The fact was that he did. He spoke to the Prime Minister as the executive of one country seldom speaks to another. . .Eden was sick at the time. Within two minutes he had called Premier Mollet in Paris and told him England was withdrawing. Mollet tried to argue. But Eden was a broken beaten man.

Nasser Must Be Checked

By WALTER LIPPMANN

Having taken off a bit of time before starting on a short trip abroad, I have spent quite a little of it wondering about the Middle East and the turn in our affairs. We have had forced upon us vast but undefined responsibilities in another great region of the globe.

Mr. Lippmann

There are some who think that by the role we have played in the United Nations since the Egyptian crisis last autumn we have won the esteem and the confidence of the Afro-Asian nations, and that they will now accept us as being uncontaminated with "colonialism." Our optimists think we have achieved a position in the uncommitted world of Asia and Africa which is at once anti-Communist and purged of historic grievances and suspicions against Europe.

I do not share this view. It seems to me naive and wishful thinking. Our connections with the West are inseverable. The Communist competition is very strong. And a new accommodation between the East and the West will not come easily. It is perhaps the greatest and most difficult task which lies before us.

U. S. Make Error

I think rather that the events of the past few months have made this difficult task much more difficult. For we have fallen into what may prove to have been an irreparable error in the way we took our stand on the Anglo-French-Israeli intervention. Instead of insisting from the outset that their attack was provoked by Nasser, and that the intervention and the provocations must be cured together, we have insisted that the intervention must be liquidated first before the causes which provoked it are dealt with.

We put all our pressure on Britain, France and Israel. We put no pressure on Nasser, and we have cleared Egypt without obtaining any serious assurances from anybody — from Nasser, from Krishna Menon, or from the Soviets — that this would not bring about a return to the status quo ante from which the explosion erupted. The result is that on the great issues of the regime of the Suez Canal and of the pacification of Palestine, our policy has meant that before negotiations are to begin, we have restored and in fact aggrandized Nasser's bargaining power. We have provided him with the big trumps before the diplomatic game is played.

Unless we make it our business, which we could do if we were resolute and resourceful, to restore the greatly diminished bargaining power of the United States and of the Western nations, we shall be negotiating from weakness. The Soviets are against us. China is against us. Nasser and the Arabs are against us. India is under the influence of their combined pressure. So in fact, also is the United Nations.

Colonialism Finished

Since the second World War we have entered a new epoch in the relations between East and West. We are at the end of the centuries which began with the great European voyages and were followed by the imperial conquest of so much of Asia and of Africa. Though there are pockets of die-hard imperialism, it is no longer debatable whether imperialism and colonialism are to be liquidated. They are to be liquidated. The questions everywhere, be it in Cyprus, Algeria or Goa, are how the imperialism is to be liquidated and how soon.

What is not yet in sight is anything that could be called an understanding of the new international order which is to follow the imperial and colonial epoch. For national independence, and the disestablishment of the old imperial regimes, will not alone produce a new order in which East and West can live peaceably together. Neither the new nations nor the old nations can live in isolation from one another, and they must therefore work out an order of relationship which they can accept. They are interdependent, as we can see clearly in the case of the Suez Canal and of the oil of the Middle East. Europe needs access to the oil, and the Arab countries would be sorely stricken if they could not dispose of their oil to the West. They cannot dispose of it to the Soviet Union. But if this East-West interdependence is to be stable and durable, there must be a reasonable equality of bargaining power in working out the principles and the details of the new relationship.

Since Nasser's seizure of the canal, since the miscalculations of the two London conferences, since the fiasco of the intervention, and since our own mistaken policy in the United Nations, the balance of bargaining power has turned drastically against the West. This is reflected in the fact that the United Nations and the United States are not negotiating with Nasser. They have been appeasing him, finding themselves so short of negotiating power.

Nasser Against West

In Nasser, both as a political figure and as a symbol, we are bound to recognize, it seems to me, a radical opponent of an accommodation between East and West. Nasser's rebellion against the West has a momentum and a direction which, if it is not contained and restrained, will carry him beyond any negotiated settlement which the West can accept. There is every reason to believe that Nasser will not voluntarily agree to any kind of international regime for the canal which guarantees to the users rights that they can count upon. It is plain that he means to use the strategic importance of the canal as an instrument of his anti-Western and pan-Arab movement. And it is quite evident that he intends against Israel to keep on waging war, as hot a war as appears to him a safely calculated military risk.

The crux of the Nasser problem is that his position in Egypt and his influence in the Arab world would soon collapse if he agreed to negotiate and to abide by settlements with the Western nations. He must remain in rebellion against them, never for long allowing the conflict to subside. He needs the tension of international, indeed of inter-racial, struggle. He needs it to maintain among the Arab masses the image of himself as their champion. He needs the tension also for his political survival at home, to divert his rivals who conspire against him, and as a distraction for the people.

The effect of Nasser's movement extends far beyond Egypt, the canal and Palestine. By his example, through his agents and his propagandists, he is making it very dangerous, perhaps impossible, for moderate leaders of the Afro-Asian peoples to arrive at settlements with the West. He is identifying moderation with treason and settlement with betrayal. This makes it for all practical purposes impossible for any other leader in North Africa and South Asia to come to terms with the West. This applies even to India where, unhappily, Nehru is now declining the role in which he had cast himself, the role of mediator. For many months past it has been apparent that India does not feel strong enough to differ with Nasser.

In fact it is an open question whether India is now able to put through an independent policy, what with Nasser on one side of it, with Red China on the other, and with the Soviet Union behind both Nasser and Chou En-lai. It is certain that we have no right to expect India to redress the balance which has turned against the West as long as our policy, or at least our practice, is to acquiesce in our weakness and to accept appeasement.

The enlightened leaders of the Western nations have hoped and believed that the old imperial system could be liquidated in peace and good will by a wise and friendly acceptance of Eastern nationalism, by education and technical assistance, and by generous contributions of capital for the development of the new nations. But as things stand at the moment, there is no ground for thinking that Nasser, who is astride the strategic center of East-West relations, believes in or wants or will permit such a peaceable evolution to take place. It is not easy to make peace when only one side wants it.

Nasser Confident

Nasser thinks he has the upper hand, having obtained control of the access of the Western nations to the oil of the Middle East. He thinks it has been proved at the British-French failure last autumn that his paramountcy cannot be challenged. He thinks that the United States will not refuse to coerce him but will in fact appease him.

All this will now be put to the test. It will be put to the test over the regime of the canal, over whether Gaza becomes again the base of a guerilla war, and over the right of innocent passage in the Gulf of Aqaba. The United States has been heavily committed by the President, and if he cannot or does not carry out the commitments, the prestige of the United States will be gravely impaired in the whole Afro-Asian world. If Nasser is not effectively checked, it will be idle to suppose that American influence can then be maintained by the Eisenhower doctrine, by pacts, by arms deliveries, by some economic aid, and by resounding declarations against the menace of Communism.

Being Rich Isn't Hard If You Know How

By MARGARET LATROBE

Some people may believe that big money is a terrible handicap, but I am not one of them. Merely because enormous riches have contributed to the general confusion of heiress Barbara Hutton's marital repititions is no sign (in my book) that the same bank account in other hands might not have provided more salubrious outcome.

Mrs. Latrobe

Miss Hutton's son, Lance Reventlow, has recently become 21. In marking this important birthday, his mother gave him a new house in California fitted out as any young bachelor could wish. Its cost, a reported $400,000 — and if Lance is anything like most new homeowners, he only thinks he's through.

Along with saying Happy Birthday to this personable and fine young fellow, people are already adding — "poor little rich boy." And I say, fiddlesticks! Money is no handicap. The mischief comes from not knowing what to do with it, or expecting the wrong things from its possession.

Shed no tears for those malcontents who bemoan the fact that they "can't be sure whether people like them or their money." It's easy to find out which is the case. One has only to give it all away to discover how fascinating a personality one really is.

Publicity following certain money-burdened folk gives the mistaken impression that all wealthy individuals are sobbing their hearts out, between champagne parties. That none of them are competent to conduct their lives along realistic lines, and that happiness is a mechanical rabbit ever beyond their reach.

Although there are few Croesus-like 21-year-old bachelors in this country, there are hundreds of plain old rich ones who suffer none of the horrid "penalties" of great wealth. They know what money can do, what it cannot do. Or more precisely, they know what they themselves can and cannot do.

These young men go to school, get jobs, get married and have children. Their women are not armed with diamond bracelets, their dogs are not leashed and jacketed in mink, their children do not wait out unhappy childhoods until they can reach unhappy — and rich — adulthood. These are people with more than the customary portion of one grain of sense. Neither maligned, mistreated nor leached by disgusting free-loaders, many youngsters of considerable wealth live happily among us, contribute rather more than their share to the common good.

Young Mr. Reventlow, as I see it, is neither more nor less fortunate than any other young fellow. He is healthy, handsome, intelligent with an important decision to face — how to make something of himself. Money problems? Sure, but I can't get upset. He has the same chance at happiness as the next guy, the same chance to muff it. Cry me no river for the poor little rich boy. I just hope that bachelor house will convert to family size, that Lance will find love and happiness and a job he likes. Lacking these, he'll just have to make do with that bleak hilltop mansion surrounded by sports cars.

(Editor's Note—This is Mrs. Latrobe's final column. Her syndicate advises that she has decided to discontinue her writing and devote her full time to her family. Her articles, under the general title, "Fairly Spoken", have appeared on this page for the past two years.)

Behind The News—

Russian Occupation of Hungary to Be Long

By CHARLES M. McCANN

Soviet Russia appears to be making a determined attempt to strengthen the regime of Communist Premier Janos Kadar of Hungary.

At the same time, it is making Kadar more and more of a puppet who is completely under Russian domination.

Mr. McCann

Kadar, who betrayed the government of Imre Nagy during the Hungarian revolt, arrived in Moscow Wednesday on a "state" visit which is expected to last 10 days or more.

His hosts really rolled out the red carpet for him.

They knew, as Kadar did, that he left behind him a sullen, bitter people who accept him only because a Russian army of occupation is ready to turn its tanks and artillery against them at the first sign of a new revolt.

Russian Unity Campaign

It is no doubt true that Kadar's visit, like that of other leaders of the Soviet satellite countries in recent weeks, is part of a Russian campaign to strengthen the "unity" of the satellites.

The strengthening is being effected by stamping out, as far as possible, every vestige of liberalized government in the countries of Communist Eastern Europe—except Poland, which made its revolt stick by not carrying it too far.

Most of the present leaders in the satellites are pretty firmly in control of their countries. All of them, again with the exception of Poland, are tough "Stalinists," who opposed the trend toward liberalization that resulted from Khrushchev's denunciation of Josef Stalin.

Kadar Regime Jittery

But Kadar and those associated with him in the Hungarian government, are jittery. They were openly alarmed last Friday, the anniversary of the 1848 revolution against Hapsburg rule, at the possibility of a new revolt by workers. They seem to be afraid that despite the ruthless repression to which they have resorted, the workers and students may break into revolt again at any time.

Kadar's position personally is so weak that he has had some difficulty in finding suitable men to share the responsibilities of government with him.

Aware of the situation, the Russians are preparing for a long-term occupation of Hungary. Families of the Russian occupation force are reported to be arriving by trainloads in token that the occupation is to last for the foreseeable future.

The Monessen Community Fund Campaign of 1946 has raised enough money to support in full all of the six participating agencies and to leave a modest balance in the fund for special purposes, it was reported today. Michael Kiseda, treasurer of the campaign committee, said contributions to date total $16,934.21.

Mrs. Jacob Waugaman of Pittsburgh visited yesterday with her sister, Mrs. Boyd Krebs, of Graham avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Jessick and son, Randy of Market street, Belle Vernon, left this week for Florida, where they plan to visit until April. When they return they will be accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. R. Alex Brown, of State street, who have spent the winter there.

Union Merger Stall Charge

PITTSBURGH (UP)— The Central Labor Union, AFL, has accused the CIO Steel City Industrial Union of stalling on the merger of the two bodies.

John A. Feigel, CLU president, said Thursday night the merger "is further away than ever." He blamed the CIO group for the fact there has been no meeting on unity for the past three months.

"The CLU stands ready to merge at any time," Feigel said. "And it is not the McKeesport Central Labor Union or the Tarentum Industrial Union Council that are holding up the merger."

The agreement by which the AFL and CIO united at the national level Dec. 5, 1955, provided that state and local bodies of both labor groups be given two years to merge.

Report Says X-rays Aided Leukemia Rise

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UP)—A statistical study has shown that within one fixed group of people, the age of on-set for acute leukemia has risen significantly since 1939. The deduction which has been drawn from this is that the always-increasing use of X-rays had something to do with it.

The scientific interest is that only one thing is positively known to cause leukemia, although probably there are other things, and that is radiation whether from X-rays, cosmic rays, or hydrogen and atomic bombs. It is well known that radiation has a cumulative effect over years.

Since 1939 the death rate from leukemia, so-called "blood cancer," has been increasing in all western counties. So has the use of X-rays, in medicine, in dentistry, even in industry.

For statistics to be meaningful, they have to be applied to people who represent more people than themselves. In this study the men and women of the British armed services were taken to be representative of the British population which, in turn, was taken to be representative of Western civilization.

Break Down Cases

During the 15 years from 1939 to 1954 there were 624 cases of leukemia. These cases were broken down into the three five-year periods during which they occurred: 1939-1944, 1945-1949, 1950 1954. They were further broken down into ages of on-set, 15 to 24 years old, 25 to 34, and over 35. The final breakdown was into "acute" and "chronic" leukemia.

The big difference between "acute" and "chronic" is that the former is worst—it kills much faster. The "acute" takes a few days or weeks to six months or a year; the "chronic," a year or a few years up to as many as 10 years in some new cases.

In the first of the three five-year periods, the proportion of "acute" to "chronic" cases decreased when the oldest age group was compared to the next oldest and even more when compared to the youngest. Proportions moved closer together in the second five-year period and in the third five year period the proportions were rather close together.

Something Was Happening

To enhance the statistical significance, the average ages of members of the armed forces were decreasing—while the age of on-set of leukemia was increasing. The inescapable implication was that something had been happening in the "environment" which made leukemia acute where it might have been chronic or, perhaps, produced leukemia where there would have been none.

Naturally, the scientists who made the studies—Drs. A. J. Lea and John D. Abbatt—were cautious in dealing with the meanings. "It is clearly to be understood that we are not advancing the hypothesis that all leukemia is due to radiation, and we are well aware that the picture has been over-simplified," they said in a report to the technical journal, "The Lancet."

Nevertheless they said "it is probable that environmental factors are responsible both for this change and for the known increase in the general mortality from leukemia. One such factor may be man-made additions to the background radiation." The background radiation comes from cosmic rays and the faint emanations from the earth. X-rays are one addition; atomic bombs are another.

Graphic Picture Of Record Budget

WASHINGTON (UP)—Rep Lawrence Smith (R-Wis) said today President Eisenhower's record $71.8 billion peacetime budget "calls for more tax dollars than there have been seconds since the birth of Christ."

"If, from the year, 1, we would have started counting the dollars in our budget at $1 per second, we would still be counting," Smith said. "In fact, we would have another $10 billion to count—10 billion seconds to go, or another 324 years."

We're the 'Dope' Who Picked Wampum

From the mail bag comes this gem: "Are you the dope who picked Wampum to win the Class B title in the WPIAL Tournament? Shannock certainly let the people know what a forecasting fake you are." . . . Just for the record, we also picked Sharon to win the "A" crown. As for the muff on Wampum, we still can't figure it. If the same two teams played tomorrow, we'd have to pick Wampum despite the sound 15 point licking the Indians absorbed in the title game the other night . . . The Indians really lost that game in the third period when they made just two field goals in 18 attempts. Meanwhile, Shannock hit on eight of 12 tries from the field. As a result, Shannock wiped out a small half-time deficit to rush off to a commanding lead.

The Monessen Sportsmen have arranged for an interesting show at their Club House tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. Gary Anderson, the noted archery expert from Charleroi, will stage a shooting demonstration. In addition, a film entitled "Out of the North" will be screened. The show is free to the public. A fish fry is planned in connection with the program . . . Arnold Galiffa, the former West Point All-American, has tossed his hat into the political arena. He's after a Democratic nomination for council in his hometown of Donora.

Salotti Turned in Fine Performance

Monessen's Dan (Boots) Salotti teamed with Nick Jacobs to officiate the WPIAL title game between Sharon and McKeesport the other night. It was probably the best officiated game of the tourney, despite the pressure and close score . . . Incidentally another Monessen whistle-tooter — Bud Roman — made some "easy" money the night of the Class B title tussle. He was on hand as an "alternate" official . . . Monongahela High's standout soccer team, defending WPIAL champion, has already smeared two exhibition foes . . . St. Vincent College has tentatively booked the Quantico Marines as a basketball foe next season. The Bearcats are really toughening their schedule.

It's official now. Greensburg High's veteran basketball coach Harold Smith has formally resigned. Smith purchased a motel in Miami, Fla., last year and plans to devote full time to that business. During his eleven seasons as head coach, his Greensburg quints won six section titles. A native of Windber, he did his college work at West Virginia University . . . The top three average bowlers in the Mon Valley Ladies League are still Monessen performers. They are Lucy Faltz, 155; Babe Kroskie, 151; and Mary Palm, 147.

Lenhart May Get His Chance at Last

Charleroi's Jim Lenhart — long the forgotten man at Pitt — may get his chance this season. Lenhart, a quarterbacking whiz at Charleroi, hasn't played a minute of college ball the past two seasons. Pitt coaches have described him as "too slow" despite his admitted passing ability. This year, Lenhart may be pressed into service through necessity. Outside of Homestead's Bill Kaliden, there appears to be no one else ahead of Lenhart at the moment . . . By the way, Jim is still eligible for varsity ball since he hasn't competed the past two seasons. His last appearance for the Panthers was back in 1954 when he completed four of six passes in the final game against Penn State.

Traynor Puts Rap On Winter Baseball

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Major leaguers who play winter baseball jeopardize their careers because they subject their energy to round-the-clock rigor, Pie Traynor said today.

The Hall of Fame third baseman said players can go stale before the regular major league season closes if they had spent the winter months at their profession.

"You don't see any of the New York Yankee stars playing winter baseball," Traynor reflected

"Take the case of Ruben Gomez last year. He was all washed out the last month of the campaign. Blame it on winter ball.

"Last year the Pirates called up Spook Jacobs from Columbus for infield duty. But he was a disappointment. No wonder, he had played baseball for six consecutive summers and winters. This round - the - clock baseball makes too many demands on the nervous system, too."

Sore Arm Ailments

Pirate pitchers Joe Trimble, Bob Garber and Dick Hall experienced sore arms last season. Traynor blamed winter baseball for the ailments.

Traynor recently returned from the Pirate training camp at Fort Myers, Fla. where he "tutored" Frank Thomas for nearly two weeks. The slugger was converted from outfield to third base in mid-season last year and worked out with the all-time Pirate great

"Right now Thomas is among the better third basemen in the league," Traynor said. "He is learning to get the jump on the ball. He has shown that he can recover the ball after he boots it and still get the runner out.

Traynor looks for the Pirates to finish fifth this year with a chance for first division.

"Right now Manager Bobby Bragan's toughest job is the selection of pitchers," he said.

"There are 24 hurlers in camp and Bobby must trim the list to 10 or 11. He has a great staff with fellows like (Bob) Friend, (Ron) Kline, (Vern) Law and (Elroy) Face. Laurin Pepper and Art Swanson are proving promising as bonus players.

Traynor believes the Cincinnati Reds can win the pennant this year.

"They have mediocre pitching," he said. "But look at that power. Ted Kluszewski and Ed Bailey each hit over .300 last season. Their left handed power is supplemented by Gus Bell who hovered around the .300 mark until the tail end of the season.

"Then they have alternate right hand batting power with Frank Robinson and Wally Post."

Traynor believes that Don Hoak, whom he rates as the best fielding third baseman in the league, was the best acquisition the Redlegs made.

"Blending Hoak with Johnny Temple and Roy McMillan gives the Reds a solid infield," he said.

Cutters, Bakers Win in Bowling

Cutters won two games from the Leinbergers and Bakers took a pair from the Bergstedts in Open Hearth Pit League bowling last night.

Top scorers were Bob Koller, 205-527; Ed Anderson, 169-458; Ray Gates, 170-483; and Pat Gilmore, 164-472.

Standings show Bakers, 16-11; Cutters, 15-12; Bergstedts, 13-14, and Leinbergers, 10-17.

Monessen Defends Volleyball Title

No Upsets in Tournament

Favorites Win Again At Gym

Six more games were reeled off in the sixth annual Monessen Ozark Basketball Tournament last night at the MHS gym without an upset.

However a couple of the tussles were closer than anyone expected.

In the Junior Division, Rostraver TC topped Connellsville B, 37-25; Donora Bills took Ellsworth, 50-35; and the defending champion Monessen Tracys hammered Rostraver TC, 65-34.

In senior action, New Brighton barely shaded the Monessen Ozarks, 30-25; Donora Last Chance had a surprisingly tough time nipping Monessen Big Five, 52-50; and the Monessen Cro-Ams handled a good McKeesport team, 57-47.

The tournament will resume tomorrow with three games The feature will pair the touted Washington Intervals against New Brighton at 8:30. In another senior game, the Monessen Ozarks will take on Big Five at 7.30.

Junior Match

One junior division match tomorrow will pair the Monessen Links against Elizabeth

Here's a rundown on last night's games:

The Donora Bills turned on the heat in the second half to ship Ellsworth. The score was only 17-15 at intermission but the Donorans drove hard in the final stanza behind a 13 point scoring performance by Dee Galiffa For Ellsworth, Steve Stolarik had 20.

Rostraver Twin Coaches piled up a 26-11 lead at intermission, then coasted to an easy win over Connellsville B Dick Shaffer led the winners with 14 points Jim Mancuso had 19 for the losers.

Later in the evening, Rostraver had to play the defending champion Monessen Tracys The township boys simply couldn't keep pace after a creditable showing for three periods. In the final frame, the Tracys outscored their foes, 27-9, to turn the game into a romp John Bogovich had 19 points for the winners, while Shaffer made nine for the losers.

Lesnak Hero

Donora Last Chance had to rally in the closing moments to defeat Monessen Big Five, 52-50 George Lesnak tossed in the winning fielder with just 18 seconds to play.

Al Frank, brilliant Carnegie Tech star, led the Donorans with 17 points. For Big Five, Ollie Payne — 6-4 Charleroi schoolboy — connected for 20 tallies.

New Brighton had a difficult time with the Monessen Ozarks. Jack Dyson led the victors with a dozen points while Joe Giamalva had the same number for the losers.

The Monessen Cro-Ams staged a great rally to defeat McKeesport. At intermission, the team trailed, 24-16. However thty eventually squared the score at 30-30 in the third period, then forged ahead for good.

Five Cro-Am players hit double figures with coach Paul Kunsa's 13 points leading the way. Larry Van Eman, McKeesport basketball ace, had 17 points for the losers.

Hounds Put WPIAL Crown on Line at Braddock Today

Coach John (Corky) DeMillion's "inexperienced but spirited" Monessen High volleyballers will defend their WPIAL title today at Braddock.

No less than 16 schools will challenge the Greyhounds in the gruelling day-long tournament.

Ordinarily the WPIAL show is a test of endurance as well as spiking skill. In that respect, the current Greyhounds figure to hold up.

"Outside of Carl Crawley, our only returning veteran, we have no outstanding stars," conceded DeMillion. "However we do have pretty good balance and we shouldn't tire as the day wears on."

In their only appearance this season, the Monessen boys had no trouble winning the Mon Valley tournament at Bentleyville.

However the Hounds anticipate lots of competition today.

Monessen's first test will be against East Deer. If they survive, the Hounds will meet the Trafford-Kittanning winner A success in that match will send them to the quarter-finals for a bout with the Braddock-East Pittsburgh-Aliquippa-Plum survivor.

Other teams in today's show are Monongahela, Munhall, Bentleyville, Charleroi, Homestead, Waynesburg and Coraopolis

The favorites, in addition to Monessen, include Homestead, Munhall, Aliquippa and Braddock

Today's winner will represent District 7 (WPIAL) in the state tourney on April 6 at Penn State. Monessen won that coveted crown last season The Hounds were also state champions in 1953

DeMillion will take an 18-man squad to Braddock. However only these ten boys will dress: Crawley, Tom Churan, Alvin Bost, Jim Baker, George Seleylo, Marvin Scales, C L. Melenyzer, Terry Troop, Bill Backinen and Carl Berkovitz.

BULLETIN

Monessen High easily survived its first WPIAL Volleyball Tournament test today, tripping East Deer, 15-1 and 15-9.

Here are other first round scores:

Braddock over East Pittsburgh, 15-10 and 15-2; Aliquippa over Plum, 15-4 and 15-13; Trafford over Kittanning, 15-12 and 15-5; Munhall over Monongahela, 15-3 and 15-1; Charleroi over Bentleyville, 15-10 and 15-10; Homestead over Clairton, 15-3 and 15-5.

Coast Teams Begin Series With Major League Clubs

By EARL WRIGHT

California fans, who hope to have major league baseball within three years, get a look at the brand of game they're bidding for in exhibitions tonight at San Francisco and San Diego.

The San Francisco Seals of the Pacific Coast League open a three-game series with the Boston Red Sox and expect to draw about 20,000 fans for each contest. The Cleveland Indians and New York Giants carry their pre-season rivalry into San Diego tonight.

The games come on the heels of an announcement that San Francisco and Los Angeles have joined forces in an all-out drive to lure major league teams to California. Mayor George Christopher of San Francisco and Mayor Norris Poulson met Thursday to plan strategy to bring big league ball first to Los Angeles and then to San Francisco.

Yanks Trampled Again

Meanwhile, back at the Florida training "ranches," National League teams continued to make merry at the expense of the world champion New York Yankees. The Cincinnati Redlegs thumped the Yankees and Don (No Hit) Larsen, 20-6, on Wednesday and the St. Louis Cardinals took advantage of three errors to whip the champions Thursday, 9-2.

St. Louis took a 4-2 lead against Johnny Kucks in the first seven innings and scored five runs in the eighth off Ralph Terry. The Yankees, playing without Mickey Mantle, got only five hits off Herman Wehmeier, Larry Jackson and Hoyt Wilhelm. Mantle has a bruised left thumb.

Charley Neal and Don Zimmer, who are trying to win regular jobs with the Dodgers, hit two-run homers in the seventh inning at Miami as Brooklyn rallied to whip the Kansas City Athletics in a night game, 6-3.

Cincinnati, fresh from the battering it gave Larsen, gave Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phillies the same treatment Thursday at Clearwater. The Redlegs slammed Roberts, one of baseball's finest pitchers, for 14 hits and seven runs in five innings enroute to a 13-10 victory. George Crowe got five of the Redlegs' 22-hit total.

Braves Also Blast Away

At Tampa, shortstop Johnny Logan and outfielder Wes Covington each hit three homers and accounted for all the Milwaukee runs as the Braves defeated the Chicago White Sox, 10-7.

At Lakeland, Frank Lary tossed six scoreless innings and second baseman Frank Bolling drove in five runs with a three-run homer and a two-run triple to lead the Detroit Tigers to a 9-2 victory over the Washington Senators.

Eddie Bressoud's triple and Ossie Virgil's sacrifice fly enabled the Giants to edge the Baltimore Orioles, 2-1, at Scottsdale, Ariz.

At Mesa, Ariz., shortstop Ernie Banks, making his first appearance of the spring after nursing a sore arm, included two homers among his four hits to lead the Chicago Cubs to a 5-4 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

Notes from Buc Training Camp

Bill Virdon, sporting a .320-plus batting average in exhibition games, has been named by his Pirate teammates as the "most likely to win the National League's batting title" in 1957. The fleet-footed fly-hawk is driving in runs with a flourish, personally accounting for several victories with his tuney hits . . . With Lee Walls out of action for several days nursing a pulled muscle in his leg, Manager Bobby Bragan installed infielder Gene reese in leftfield. The Wheeling, West Va., native took over the strange position like a veteran even though he'd never played the outfield before either as a professional or in his school days. Gene turned in a couple sparkling back - handed catches against the Kansas City Athletics that left Ft. Myers fans gaspings.

...Bragan, still juggling his lineup, has tried Frank Thomas at first base. "I just want to see how he does at first," commented Bragan. "Dale Long is still my regular first baseman, but I want Thomas to get the feel of first in case Long gets hurt during the season. I might have to move Thomas from third to first." . . . Catcher Hank Foiles reports. "If the season opened tomorrow, Bob Friend would be ready. I've never seen him look sharper than he did his last time out." And it will probably be Friend who will open the Pirates' 1957 season at Forbes Field on Tuesday, April 16, against Johnny Antonelli and the New York Giants.

Smooth-fielding Billy "The Kid" Mazeroski has a new fan in K. C. Manager Lou Boudreau. "He's got that same second baseman's flip when he gets rid of the ball that makes the difference between an ordinary fielder and a great one," commented Boudreau after watching Mazerowki in a game. "He reminds me of Joe Gordon and Charley Gehringer," said Boudreau. High praise indeed for the 20-year-old Ohioan, from one who played with Gordon and against Gehringer for many years . . . Pitcher Cholly Naranjo has a "Yul Brynner haircut." Head completely shaved! And Frank Thomas and Dale Long are new members of the new cut set.

Bradley, Memphis State to Meet In NIT Finals

NEW YORK (UP)— So now this upset-happy National Invitation Basketball Tournament comes to a showdown between Bradley, a team that's "tearin' the joint apart," and Memphis State, a dashing dark-horse that has surprised three straight times.

That's the hard-to-pick lineup for Saturday's nationally-televised finale at 2 p.m. EST in Madison Square Garden — a pairing produced by eight upsets out of 10 preliminary games.

Bradley became only the second favorite to win a game in the whole carnival Thursday night when it romped to a 94-66 victory over Temple in a semi-final. In the other, Bob Swander's one-hander with three seconds left in overtime gave Memphis State a 80-78 decision over St. Bonaventure in the tourney's most exciting game to date.

"I kind of like Bradley in the final," said defeated Coach Harry Litwack of Temple, and it appeared that the hot-shooting Braves from Peoria, Ill., will be favored over the Tennessee Tigers by game time.

Another Shot

That means that Bradley will be getting another shot at the title it narrowly missed in 1950, when it was beaten by CCNY's "double champions" in the finale, 69-61—the same year it lost to the same team in the NCAA final.

It also means that Memphis State gets an amazing chance to grab the gold ring on its first ride on the merry-go-round, its first appearance in the NIT.

Robinson Was Almost Traded To White Sox

By LEO H. PETERSEN

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UP) —Jackie Robinson almost wound up playing for the Chicago White Sox in 1955, General Manager Frank Lane of the St. Louis Cardinals revealed today.

The now-it-can-be-told story, which finally confirmed a United Press exclusive released two years ago, was related by Lane as he reminisced about his wild-trading days when he was general manager of the White Sox.

According to Lane, the White Sox were bidding for the pennant in 1955 when Minnie Minoso and Dick Donovan were injured. That's when frantic Frank approached the Brooklyn Dodgers about acquiring Robinson in a cash deal.

The Dodgers placed the now retired Robinson on the waiver list, but the deal failed to materialize when both the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Cincinnati Redlegs claimed him.

Wanted Him

"I think Branch Rickey claimed Jackie just to keep Robinson's drawing power in the league, while the Redlegs really wanted him for his playing ability," Lane said.

He added that the White Sox and the Dodgers had agreed upon a purchase price for Robinson.

"It was between $40,000 and $50,000," said Lane, who then conceded that with Jackie the White Sox would have won the pennant that year. Without Robinson, Chicago finished third, five games behind the pennant-winning New York Yankees.

Monessen Wins In PNA Bowling

Monessen won two games from Bentleyville and Charleroi took a pair from Arnold City in Mon Valley PNA Ladies League bowling last weekend.

Top scorers were Helen Pensis (Bentleyville) 144-367; Ann Sepesky (Monessen) 180-438; Louise Dutko (Charleroi) 143-364; Jenny Petrosky (Arnold City) 144 and Stella Kroskie (Arnold City) 346.

Aragon Sent To State Prison

LOS ANGELES (UP)— A tarnished and nearly broke Art (Golden Boy) Aragon, who once bragged that he could defeat any prize fighter in his class, has taken the final count that virtually puts an end to his fabulous fistic career.

The 29-year-old Aragon turned pale Thursday when he heard Superior Judge Herbert V. Walker sentence him to one to five years in the state prison for conspiring to give refugee boxer Dick Goldstein $500 to take "a dive" in a Texas bout.

"I told the truth and I'm going to prison," Aragon sobbed as he was led away to jail by a bailiff. "There is nothing more I can say."

Aragon, who drew up to $1 million at the box office, was convicted last month by a Superior Court jury of conspiring to "fix" a San Antonio, Tex., bout last December by attempting to bribe Goldstein. The bout never came off because Aragon became ill and was excused by the Texas State Athletic Commission.

Li'l Leaguer

Vote Against Foul Rule

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UP)—College basketball coaches today had all but killed most of the one-and-one free throw rule in efforts to "halt the parade to the free throw line."

The coaches, at their 31st annual convention, voted 77-23 Thursday to adopt a modification of the rule along lines used in the Big Ten Conference this past season.

Under that setup the one-and-one applies only after a team has committed six fouls in each half. Research showed that it usually was 13 to 15 minutes before teams committed six fouls, and since a half lasts 20 minutes, this would do away with the one-and-one for about three-fourths of the game.

The one-and-one rule, designed to make a foul more costly, has been in effect only one year. It provides that if a player fouled while not in the act of shooting makes his first free throw he gets a "bonus" try.

The coaches' recommendations will go to the National Rules Committee which meets here Sunday and Monday. Approval by the rules committee is almost automatic.

Alcoholism Swells The Salivary Glands

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UP) — Medical scientists have found impressive evidence that the psychological-nutritional disease called alcoholism can dramatically swell the main salivary glands.

It is dramatic because these glands, the parotids which are located just in front of and below the ears, may balloon out so much that looking at the alcoholic from the front, you may not be able to see his ear lobes.

Yet the man feels nothing and doesn't know anything has happened to his parotids. Normally the parotids can't even be felt from the outside. Don't ask how it happens because medical science doesn't know yet.

That the parotids could become involved in advanced alcoholism was first suggested by French and Italian scientists. That suggestion now has been confirmed by three scientists of Harvard Medical School — Drs. Stanley J. Wolfe, W.H.J. Summerskill, and Charles S. Davidson. Dr. Davidson is an associate professor of medicine at Harvard.

They studied nine men and seven women admitted to hospital because of grave complications resulting from long-standing chronic alcoholism. Of the 16, 14 had cirrhosis of the liver, one had pancreatic involvement of indefinite nature, and the 16th had varicose veins. But all had swollen parotids.

Yet the glands "were neither tender nor inflamed, and the overlying skin was freely movable." Nine died of liver failure. The death of a 10th was not due primarily to liver failure. Since permission for an autopsy was refused, the primary cause of death is unknown. Of the six who survived, only one had as much "liver derangement" as those who died.

So it was interesting without proving too much, that his parotids began returning to normal size when liver function improved. However, French investigators had found parotid enlargements in many alcoholics who did not have cirrhosis of the liver. The Harvard investigators, in their report to the New England Journal of Medicine, said the very high proportion of cirrhotic livers among their cases "may be an accident of sampling."

The cause of enlarged parotids among alcoholics "is unexplained," they said. They recalled that medical literature makes "frequent reference" to similarities between the functions of the pancreas gland and the salivary glands. Yet in their cases where there were autopsies, there was no "significant alterations" in pancreatic structure.

"Proof of any such relation is awaited," they remarked.

Cigarets Cause Lung Cancer, Report Says

ATLANTA (UP)— The Atlanta Constitution revealed in a copyrighted story today a report sponsored by four national health agencies which says flatly that cigaret smoking causes lung cancer.

The Constitution said the report, "highly confidential and not yet released officially, establishes the most positive link found by any scientific group to date" between cigaret smoking and lung cancer.

But the report said no convincing evidence was found that smoking is a cause of heart disease, according to the Constitution.

The report was made by a study group sponsored by the American Cancer Society, the National Cancer Institute, the American Heart Assn. and the National Heart Institute, the Constitution said.

A group of seven of the nation's leading scientists has approved of the report but the four agencies have not yet done so, the Constitution said, and they may make minor changes in its final form.

• "The sum total of scientific evidence establishes beyond reasonable doubt that cigaret smoking is a causative factor in the rapidly increasing incidence of human epidermoid carcinoma (cancer) of the lung," the report said.

"Lung cancer occurs much more frequently (5 to 15 times) among cigaret smokers than among non-smokers, and there is a direct relationship between incidence of lung cancer and the amount smoked.

"It is estimated that on a lifetime basis one of every 10 men who smoke over two packs a day will die of lung cancer. The comparable risk among non-smokers is one out of 175.

The scientists urged in their report that researchers try to find and if possible eliminate the substance in cigarets or the cigaret smoke that they believe causes the lung cancer.

Senate Has Big Problem

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate wrestled today over the ticklish issue of whether a senator can be subpenaed by a federal court.

The problem arose over a subpena issued to Chairman James O. Eastland (D-Miss) of the Senate Judiciary Committee to testify in the contempt of Congress trial of Seymour Peck, a deskman for the Sunday New York Times. Eastland said he was willing to appear.

But a number of senators questioned whether he should. Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) said he had "grave apprehensions" that the subpena could "open a very dangerous field."

The Senate took up the issue Thursday. But it put off any decision until today on a motion by Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore), a former law school dean.

Morse said a ruling of the court in refusing to quash the subpena at the government's request "challenges the division of powers and wouldn't stand up" if taken to the Supreme Court.

Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga), second - ranking senator from the standpoint of seniority, said the Senate "could be disorganized" by such subpenas.

But Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-NM) said congressmen should be willing to testify in cases growing out of congressional hearings.

Other congressional news:

Zwicker: The Senate Armed Services Committee pressed its closed-door questioning of Brig. Gen. Ralph Zwicker about Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's charge that he committed perjury. Zwicker is up for promotion to major general. Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr. (D-NC), a committee member, said critics of Zwicker's promotion are merely "plowing the same old field."

Banking: The Senate passed a sweeping bill to streamline the nation's banking laws. The bill would sweep away many dead letters that have been on the law books for years. It was sent to the House.

Newsman: A Senate judiciary subcommittee scheduled a hearing Tuesday to question Baltimore newsman William Worthy on his trip to Red China in defiance of a State Department ban. Subcommittee Chairman Thomas C. Hennings Jr. assailed Secretary of State John Foster Dulles for allowing the ban to continue.

Postal: Chairman Olin D. Johnston of the Senate Post Office Committee accused Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield of conduct "not becoming a member of the cabinet or anyone else." Summerfield appeared before the Post Office Committee to bid for postal rate increases.

To Buy Special Brand of Coal

NEW YORK (UP) — United States Steel Corp. and Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. have contracted to buy large amounts of metallurgical coal from Pittston Co. mines in southwest Virginia, a reliable source told the United Press today.

Neither of the two big steel companies was available for immediate comment.

The source disclosed that U.S. Steel has signed an agreement to purchase the entire output of Pittston's Moss No. 2 Mine for its National Tube Division at Lorain, Ohio.

The newly built mine turns out 1½ million tons of coal annually.

The source said Youngstown has signed a 25-year contract with Pittston for the output of the Moss No. 1 mine to be used for a new battery of coke ovens Youngstown has recently placed in operation in Chicago.

Explosive Situation In Jordan

By JOE A. MORRIS

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UP)—Many Middle Eastern observers believe that the days are numbered for Jordan as an independent kingdom.

The political situation there is explosive. Twenty - one - year old King Hussein is working to shore up his position and save the monarchy, but his relations with left-wing Arab Nationalist Premier Suleiman Nabulsi are frosty and formal.

Hussein and Nabulsi take opposing stands on many major issues, including the Eisenhower Doctrine and the Communist threat in the Middle East.

Differ On Method

Both support the "Arab liberation" movement and the "positive neutrality" group of Arab states which includes Egypt, Syria and Saudi Arabia. But Hussein and Nabulsi differ on how to reach the goal of "Arab unity."

Nabulsi leans toward a federation of Jordan with Egypt and Syria which would later include other Arab states like Saudi Arabia. The armies of Egypt, Jordan and Syria already are under the overall command of the Egyptian war ministry.

Hussein, surrounded by influential conservative politicians and under the influence of Queen Mother Zain, is said to be fully aware of the growing and dangerous Soviet influence in neighboring Syria. While he has not publicly supported the Eisenhower Doctrine, the young king has blasted Communism and ordered steps to stamp it out in Jordan.

But the main topic in Jordan is not Communism but ridding the country of "British influence." The Anglo-Jordan military alliance ended March 14, forcing Jordan, to look elsewhere for aid.

Jordan Fears Syria

Observers fear that neighboring Arab states can now exert pressure which will topple Hussein. Jordan, they say, could be swallowed up by Syria, which during the Suez crisis sent troops into Jordan obstensibly to guard the borders against Israel.

Western diplomats speak guardedly but hopefully of a new alliance of anti - Communist states which would include Jordan, Lebanon, Iraq and Saudi Arabia. Lebanon has been most outspoken in declaring that neutrality in the cold war is impossible.

The Jordanians have expelled the British but have not thrashed out where they go next.

Take Steps to Curb Obscene Literature

HARRISBURG (UP)—Law enforcement officers throughout the state today attempted to write a legal definition of "obscenity," to be included in proposed legislation which would clear the way for a drive against offensive literature in Pennsylvania.

A five - member committee drawn from a large group of district attorneys which met with state Attorney General Thomas D. McBride here Thursday was appointed to draft a more specific definition of the pivotal word which would put teeth in anti-vice legislation that has been up to the present time almost unenforceable.

Also present at the closed meeting were representatives of numerous magazine distributors who have been the chief target in the drive to clear newsstands of so-called "salacious literature."

The conference was called by McBride after a meeting with a number of law enforcement officers last week on how to meet the problems of eliminating obscene magazines and motion pictures.

"The problem of obscene literature and its effect on juvenile delinquency is one in which the Justice Department is concerned since uniformity of approach throughout the Commonwealth is desirable," McBride said after the meeting.

Outlines Key Steps

McBride's suggestion was to draft a better definition of the word "obscenity" and other key words as the first step in preparing legislation.

Chosen to write the original draft were Raymond Start, Delaware County, chairman; Marvin Halbert, Philadelphia; Park H. Loose, Blair; James Dillon, Allegheny, and Edward S. Ruijak, Northampton.

Others attending the meeting were Mayor Nolan F. Ziegler of Harrisburg and these district attorneys or members of their staffs:

George M. Hess, Jr., Lycoming; John R. Miller, Centre; Eugene Kitler, Clearfield; John H. Devlin, Allegheny; Samuel J. Halpern, Chester; Victor H. Blanc, Philadelphia; Richard P. Steward, Beaver; L. Alexander Sculco, Westmoreland; E. W. Van Horn, Jr., Bedford; Paul A. McGinley, Lehigh; Charles W.Kugler, Perry; Mary E. Hoerner, Dauphin; George C. Eppinger, Franklin; David C. Wolfe, Cambria; J. Murray Buterbaugh, Indiana; Robert Johnson, Jr., Erie; P. Richard Thomas, Crawford; John Q.Stranahan, Mercer; Paul M. Showalter, Union; Albert H. Aston, Luzerne; Glenn R. Toothman, Greene; M. A. Kornreich, Warren; Carl A. Niehoff, Carbon; Earl H. Allen, Delaware; C.Wayne Smyth, Bradford; Robert G. Dean, Susquehanna; Donald W. Van Artsdalen, Bucks; Frederick Brubaker, Berks; Robert M. Harris, Schuylkill; H. F. Bonno, Northumberland; George W. Atkins, York, and R. Lee Ziegler, Mifflin.

Field Mouse Died Happy, Held Up Train

WASHINGTON (UP)—A fat field mouse possibly with a wild springtime yen for derring-do has assured himself a niche in history.

He stopped a 56-car Pennsylvania Railroad freight train single handed.

It wasn't easy.

The long train slid to a halt Wednesday four miles out of the Potomac railroad yards when its engineman couldn't throw a switch up ahead.

Help was called. Shouts and alarms filled the air. Technicians probed the switch.

Fifty-six minutes later the trouble was discovered: The lifeless body of the devil-may-care mouse lay wedged between two electrical contacts breaking the switch circuit.

It was difficult to determine whether the mouse's face wore a smile of triumph.

New Librarian Named in State

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader today named Ralph Blasingame, 36, Sacramento, Calif., as librarian of the State Library, effective April 1.

Blasingame, a native of University Park, Pa., has been assistant California state librarian since 1952. He will fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Dr. Alfred B. Keator in 1951. The post pays $10,432 annually.

Blasingame was graduated from Pennsylvania State University and holds a MA degree in Library Science from Columbia University. He was recommended for the post by the Pennsylvania Library Association. The recommendation was seconded by the State Public Instruction Department, which administers the State Library.

Church Leaders Urging Action To Bolster U. S. Foreign Aid

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UP) — Church leaders are taking up the political action cudgels in an attempt to save the U. S. foreign aid program from sharp cuts threatened in Congress.

They believe that a nation as wealthy as America has an obligation to continue and even expand its economic aid to less-fortunate countries, and that this obligation flows from Christian principles on which the church has a duty to speak out.

Top officials of the National Council of Churches feel so strongly about the moral issues involved that they are taking unusual steps to rally public sentiment in favor of a "strengthened" economic aid program.

The council's governing board, representing 30 major Protestant and Orthodox denominations, has appealed to 400,000 local ministers across the country to explain the church position to their congregations and urge members to write their congressmen.

Churchmen hope this belated campaign will offset the heavy mail that members of Congress are receiving from constituents who demand that foreign aid spending be drastically curtailed or eliminated.

Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, president of the National Council, emphasized to a reporter that churches are not "lobbying" for any particular foreign aid figure, nor are they committed to the program recommended by President Eisenhower.

"We are simply expressing Christian concern about the basic principles which we believe our country should follow in its foreign aid policies," he said.

These principles were spelled out in a policy statement which the council's 250-member governing board adopted unanimously at its recent meeting at Williamsburg, Va.

Believe In Assistance

"We believe our nation should seek ways of being of greater assistance to our fellow men in economically underdeveloped areas," the church leaders said.

Programs of economic and technical aid, instead of being cut, should be "strengthened and expanded to the full extent of our capabilities," they asserted.

The statement said economic aid should be extended out of an unselfish desire to help the less-fortunate raise their living standards, and should be kept entirely separate from military aid programs designed to bolster our own security.

It opposed any policy which would restrict U.S. economic aid to our allies in the cold war.

Policeman Has Right to Set Traffic Rules

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — A traffic patrolman has the right to direct traffic as he sees fit, no matter what the signs do or do not say, the Pennsylvania Superior Court ruled Wednesday.

The tribunal rejected an appeal brought by Pittsburgh Attorney David M. Harrison, who was convicted in Allegheny County Court for making a right turn in downtown Pittsburgh when the officer at the corner had ordered him to go straight ahead.

Harrison's counsel had argued right turns are normally allowed at the intersection and no signs forbid the turn. The court, in an opinion written by President Judge Chester H. Rhodes, rejected the argument that signs have to be posted and motorists given a warning before traffic patterns can be altered.

Pittsburgh assistant Solicitor George Shorall argued that the officer must be equipped with the power to make on the spot decisions to relieve traffic congestion.

Named Personnel Director for State

HARRISBURG (UP)—Robert S. Winchester, 33, Philadelphia, today assumed duties as personnel director for the state Highways Department, succeeding A. M. Larsen, who was transferred to the engineering division.

Winchester served as personnel officer for Philadelphia since 1953. He receives an annual salary of $10,000 in his new post.

Seeing-eye Control

PARIS (UP)—To control the expected flow of cars on French highways this spring, police will use new cars equipped with electronic cameras to take films of faulty drivers, the Interior Ministry reported today.
